Rationing on horizon

Ford nixes gas tax; 2 firms cut prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price cuts by two major oil companies and renewed indications that President Ford is against increasing federal gasoline taxes have provided motorists at least some temporary good news.

But Melvin R. Laird, a friend and informal adviser of Ford, called Thursday for the adoption of standby authority for gasoline rationing, saying it will be needed sooner or later.

The gasoline price cuts were announced by Mobil Oil Corp. and Amoco Oil Corp., a division of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Mobil reduced gasoline prices by 2 cents a gallon and Amoco made a 3 cent-a-gallon cut. Amoco also lowered its price on No. 1 and No. 2 distillate oil by 3 cents a gallon. The cuts were effective immediately, and are in line with federal regulations linking wholesale gas prices to firms' crude oil costs.

Both oil companies confirmed that cost cuts for motorists are certain only at company-owned stations. Independent dealers will pay lower wholesale prices but they determine their own pump prices.

The indications that Ford opposes raising the federal gasoline tax came both from Rep. Bill Archer and White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Archer, R-Tex., said Ford disclosed that he has "no intention of sending a proposal for a 20-cent gasoline tax increase to Congress."

And Nessen said that while the tax was among options suggested to Ford, the President opposed it.

Laird issued his call for standby rationing authority while moderating a conference on world oil problems. "Sooner or later a rationing system is going to be needed," he said.

He said some $100 billion per year is flowing to oil exporters and in six years the transfer may amount to $600 billion, an amount more than the value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

So Laird predicted that eventually rationing will be necessary, coupled with taxes to discourage energy use.

Administration sources, meanwhile, said Ford will announce soon that Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton will replace Treasury Secretary William E. Simon as chairman of the cabinet level Committee on Energy.

The panel is to develop options and recommendations on major energy problems and has been headed by Simon since it was formed June 14.

The shift apparently indicates a larger role for Morton in the development of energy policies.

Nessen reported Thursday that Ford will unveil his new economic plans in a speech early next week, but he said the time and forum have not yet been decided upon.

Miller joins O'Neill for benefit contest

Bob Miller, director of agricultural activities for WLW Radio, Cincinnati and the Avco Broadcasting Corp., will appear at the first annual Washington C. H. - Paint Creek No Stars benefit football game at Gardner Park Stadium Saturday night.

Miller, well-known to Fayette County area farmers, will join the witty James Francis Patrick O'Neill in the Gardner Park Stadium press box Saturday night for the fund-raising contest which will benefit the popular Community Education program here.

The game will begin at 8:30 p.m. Saturday immediately following the regular Washington C. H. Pony League football games.

Miller, who has received countless awards during his broadcasting career, first became associated with WLW-Radio in 1946 before moving to WRFD Radio in Columbus from 1948 until 1952. He returned to WLW in 1952.

Preparations for the long-awaited contest have been completed and all players on both teams are asked to assemble at Washington Senior High School at 7 p.m. Saturday for a final briefing.

Criminal crackdown works

WASHINGTON (AP) — District attorneys who have tested a quick and tough system for prosecuting habitual criminals call it a promising weapon against rising national crime rates.

They delivered that report Thursday to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who plans to implement the system in 10 cities as the Ford administration's first effort to deal with the increase in crime.

Saxbe conferred with prosecutors who administered the system in the Brooklyn and Bronx sections of New York City and with other criminal justice authorities as the FBI issued new statistics showing still another boost in the nation's crime rate.

The FBI said the volume of serious crime rose 16 per cent in the first six months of 1974 compared with the same period a year ago.

Brooklyn and Bronx prosecutors said top-priority prosecution has produced a high conviction rate and long prison sentences for repeat offenders.

The system works this way:

After arresting an individual, police review his past record of arrests and convictions. If the individual has several recent offenses, his case would be assigned to a special team of prosecutors that would press the court for a swift trial and a harsh sentence. The prosecutors would inform the judge about the defendant's past record. The primary target is the violent offender.

The high-priority cases now come to trial in 75 days, while it sometimes takes two years to try other defendants handled routinely, he added.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Mario Merola said that 97 per cent of the defendants channeled through the special system are convicted. The rate could be as low as 50 per cent with routine treatment, he estimated.

Without special handling, cases often collapse as witnesses die, move away or forget what they saw while waiting years for a trial, the prosecutors told reporters after meeting with Saxbe.

The system also has encouraged judges to impose longer prison sentences, they added. Merola said the average for defendants given special treatment is almost 10 years.

The new FBI figures for the crimes reported to state and local police showed that the upsurge that began in late 1973 continued through the first half of this year.

The property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft rose 17 per cent, compared with a 2 per cent decrease for the same period last year.

Larceny, which includes such things as shoplifting and pursenatching, increased 20 per cent, the highest of all seven categories measured.

SOMEONE has ventured into a new hobby the last couple nights — collecting sewer covers. Washington C. H. police dispatcher Mary Jean Fowler told the R-H six sewer covers have been stolen during the last two nights from the following locations, three from Glenn Street, two from Sycamore Street and one from behind the new McDonald's restaurant.

City street superintendent Bill Duncan declared this is an expensive hobby indeed! "And you can guess who's paying for it... the taxpayer. 'Sewer covers run from $40 on up apiece, if they can be attained. It's not something everyone has in stock. Anyone having information concerning the

Rhodes says Gilligan is feeding inflation

By The Associated Press
Republican gubernatorial candidate James Rhodes said Thursday the administration of Democratic Gov. John Gilligan has helped feed inflation by adding 9,000 jobs to the state payroll.

A spokesman for Gilligan defended the increased number of state employees, saying they were necessary to improve state services.

Rhodes said in a campaign statement the additional employees cost Ohio taxpayers $95 million a year, or about 20 per cent of total revenues from the state income tax.

The former governor said an average worker is taxed a full day's salary a week to pay for Gilligan's "new army of bureaucrats."

Responding to Rhodes' statement, Gilligan's press aide, Robert Tenenbaum, said Rhodes seems "proud of the fact" that under his administration Ohio spent less for state services per capita than any state in the union.

"Ohio spent less on education than any other state and was second from last in spending for the mentally ill and mentally retarded," Tenenbaum said.

"Is he talking about, for instance, the 1,100 new employees in the Department of Mental Health, so that some 20,000 patients can be treated like human beings?" the press secretary asked.

"If that's his idea of an 'army of bureaucrats,' then so be it," Tenenbaum added.

Rhodes pledged to "end the inflationary spiral of state spending" if he is elected in November.

"Families have to adjust their budgets to inflationary costs, and their government should do likewise," he said. "It requires gubernatorial budgeting leadership to achieve such results."

Meanwhile, State Rep. Richard Celeste, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, claimed Thursday he is leading incumbent John W. Brown and predicted Gilligan will defeat Rhodes by 250,000 to 500,000 votes.

He contradicted a poll taken for the Republican party which reportedly showed Brown and all of the incumbents ahead, except in the governor's race, which was rated a tossup.

Republican state Chairman Kent McGough said the survey, taken by Market Opinion Research of Detroit, showed Rhodes had gained since the previous poll was taken and Gilligan had lost some support, but he declined to disclose who was leading.

The Republican candidate for state attorney general, George C. Smith, charged in a statement that Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown was holding off until after the election on investigation of the state Democratic party.

The U.S. General Accounting Office raised questions of some possible campaign irregularities by the party in 1972 in a report prepared in February 1974. The GAO said the party used state employees to solicit political contributions and also did not account for all contributions.

The governor has granted Brown special powers to further investigate possible election law violations within the party, beyond a preliminary report he prepared.

Unemployment rate hits 5.8 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Widespread layoffs pushed the nation's unemployment rate up to 5.8 per cent of the work force last month, the highest level in 2½ years, the government reported today.

Another 440,000 workers joined unemployment rolls in September, bringing the total to a seasonally adjusted 5.3 million, the Labor Department said.

The increase in the jobless rate, from 5.4 per cent in August, was the largest monthly increase since last January when it also rose four-tenths of one per cent.

Unemployment has been creeping up gradually for the past several months and is expected to rise above six per cent late this year or in early 1975. Last October the jobless rate had dropped to a 3½-year low of 4.6 per cent. Since then the number of unemployed persons has risen by 1.2 million.

President Ford, who will send his economic program to Congress next week, has indicated he will propose an expanded public service jobs program using federal funds to enable state and local governments to hire the unemployed.

Most of the unemployment last month took place among women aged 25 and older and among teen-agers, particularly males 18 to 19 years old. Declining college attendance among young men, coupled with the slower growth in jobs, contributed to the higher joblessness among youth, the government said.

Total employment was reported up by 350,000 from August to September. Over the past year, total employment has climbed by 1.4 million, half the year-to-year gain recorded in the previous year. The increase was negated in the unemployment picture by additional job seekers.

Both white and blue collar workers felt the effects of the slowing economy. Both categories registered increases in joblessness. Heavy layoffs were reported in manufacturing, construction and wholesale and retail trade.

Plasti-Kote Co., a division of Consolidated Foods Inc., said it stopped using vinyl chloride in some products in December 1971 and altogether in June 1973.

Construction's unemployment rate, at 12.4 per cent, rose to its highest level in four years.

Spray paint refund order being fought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers can begin demanding full refunds Monday for millions of new or used cans of spray paint containing the cancer-causing chemical vinyl chloride.

But since the chemical is not listed on labels, it may be almost impossible to determine whether the aerosol paint you own contains vinyl chloride.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said today it has denied requests by several paint manufacturers to revoke the federal refund order. Retailers will be required to post lists in their stores of vinyl chloride-containing paints they have sold during past years.

The industry had warned the commission that it produced tens of millions of cans of spray paint with vinyl chloride, and that repurchase at $1.50 to $2.00 each would put many companies out of business.

They also said the 24 liver cancer deaths attributed to vinyl chloride occurred among workers who had been exposed to heavy concentrations for years. They said there was no proof that limited exposure from use of aerosol paints would cause cancer.

Rust-Oleum Corp., which discontinued use of vinyl chloride in April 1972, said it was not arguing that it is "more important to save a business than to save a life," but it felt the repurchase order was not backed up by proof of a health hazard.

The firm said aerosol paints and varnishes generally are used outdoors or in well-ventilated areas and any potential risk is greatly minimized.

Plasti-Kote Co., a division of Consolidated Foods Inc., said it stopped using vinyl chloride in some products in December 1971 and altogether in June 1973.

City Council to open special meets Monday

Washington C. H. City Council will open its series of special meetings at various city school buildings Monday night when the city's legislators hold an open meeting at Eastside Elementary School.

The meetings have been designed for the purpose of explaining the proposed 1.25 per cent income tax issue which will be appearing on the November 5 general election ballot.

Although the proposed income tax issue appears to be one of the primary discussion topics, residents in the area of Eastside Elementary School are also expected to discuss the disturbing odors from the city's sewage treatment plant. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The next special session will be held October 14 at Belle-Aire Elementary School to be followed by meetings at Rose Avenue Elementary School on October 21 and at Cherry Hill Elementary School on October 28.

City Manager Dan Wolford said Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of Washington C. H. city schools, has approved the dates for the special meetings at the various school buildings.

Besides the four special meetings in the city school buildings, regular City Council sessions will be held October 9 and October 23.

Rites set Saturday for mishap victim

Funeral services for a Washington C.H. man killed Wednesday night in an automobile accident have been scheduled for Saturday.

Services for John Michael Smith, 22, of 806 Sycamore St., will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Noble Miller officiating. Burial will follow in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call after 4 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Smith was pronounced dead on arrival at Fayette Memorial Hospital Wednesday night after a one-car mishap on Palmer Road.

The car he was driving went out of control on a left curve on Palmer Road near the U.S. 35 bypass. Sheriff's deputies reported the auto traveled off the right side of the road, collided with an open ditch and became airborne across the highway. It then struck an embankment and overturned three times before coming to a stop on its wheels.

The young father of two children was thrown from the car during the turbulent crash and reportedly died instantly of a broken neck.

Born in Greenfield, Mr. Smith was employed as a foreman at the Cudahy Foods Co., Washington C.H. He was preceded in death by a son Tommy James Smith, who died March 24, 1973.

He is survived by his wife, the former Rebecca Ann Wood; a son, John Michael Smith Jr., age 4, and a daughter, Kimberly Sue Smith, six months. Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, 936 Lakeview Ave.; his great-grandfather, John A. Smith, Rt. 2, Washington C.H.; two brothers, Thomas, 720 Broadway, and Dennis, Ford Rd.

CHARLES E. WILSON — Services for Charles E. Wilson, 62, of 510 Third St., were held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of McNair Presbyterian Church, officiating. Mr. Wilson, a cook for 16 years at the J & J Restaurant, died Tuesday.

Pallbearers for burial in Washington Cemetery were Ora Walls, Robert and Donald Bushatz, Lowell Butler, Karl Kriderl and Doug East.

MISTY V. MINNEY — Graveside services for Misty Velvet Minney, infant daughter of George H. and Mary Daves Minney, 236 Green St., were conducted at 10 a.m. Friday in Washington Cemetery by the Rev. Dale Orihood of the Church of the Nazarene. The infant died two hours following birth Tuesday in Mount Carmel Hospital, Columbus. The Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home was in charge.

MRS. LOUISE Q. STEWART — Services for Mrs. Louise Quonn Cannon Stewart, 67, New York City, N.Y., were held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Rodgers Chapel AME Church with the Rev. Howard Gray officiating. Mrs. Stewart a practical nurse, died Friday in New York. The Second Baptist Choir sang a hymn, Mrs. Naomi Terry and Mrs. Leona Terry sang solos and the obituary was read by Mrs. Naomi Terry.

Pallbearers for burial in Clinton Memorial Gardens, Wilmington, were Marshall Powell, Rollie Steptler, John D. Jackson, James Evans, Donald Kinney and Leroy Gray. Burial was made under the direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

CHRISTIN A. SCRANTON — Services for Christin Anne Scranton, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scranton, of the Sabina Mobile Park, were held at 11 a.m. Friday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Joe Lorimer officiating. A student at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus, she died Tuesday in Greene Memorial Hospital, Xenia, from injuries received in an automobile accident north of Wilmington.

Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was at the organ. Pallbearers for burial in Sabina Cemetery were Charles Gaskins, Tom Newman, Dennis Stout, Bob Forest, Charles Combs, Tony Race, Andy O'Dell and Larry Heinz.

ELMER O. CORWIN — Services for Elmer O. (Pete) Corwin, 78, of Sabina, were held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina, with the Rev. Joe Lorimer, of the Sabina Church of Christ, officiating. Mr. Corwin, a shovel operator for the Melvin Stone Co., died Tuesday.

Pallbearers for burial in Sabina Cemetery were Elbie Flint, Forest Yarger, Jack Beam, Kibler Roberts, Donald Stewart and Donald Huffman. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was at the organ.

Marion police chief kills self in office

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Police Chief John W. Long, who had resigned under pressure a few hours earlier, killed himself with his service revolver Thursday, the county coroner said.

The body of Long, 49, was discovered in his office around noon by City Auditor Dominic Sansota, who was to have met Long for lunch.

About two hours earlier, Long, who had planned to retire at the end of the year, announced his resignation.

A 29-year veteran on the force and chief for nine years, Long had been criticized recently by some city council members for a lack of leadership and administrative ability.

Company charged with violation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Consumer Companies of America, Inc., was charged by Attorney General William J. Brown Thursday with violating Ohio's new antipiracy sales law.

The lawsuit, filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court, charged the Ohio-based firm with using a pyramid sales scheme throughout Ohio, particularly in Akron, Cincinnati, Columbus and Dayton.

The attorney general alleged that persons can buy into the scheme on two levels by paying $400 or $1,800 for their positions. Participants make money through commissions received when they recruit new persons to join, he said.

UAW pensioner's reaction to benefit hike: 'big deal'

NEW BALTIMORE, Mich. (AP) — Frank Hograever, 89, Chrysler Corp.'s oldest living pensioner, has two words for the latest increase in his benefits: "Big Deal."

Hograever's monthly check has just jumped $59.45, to $295.05, under the latest increase built into the contract negotiated with the United Auto Workers.

The increase alone is $14.45 more than his monthly pension when he retired 24 years ago, but he's not impressed.

"I mean it's nice and all, I'm getting $295.05 a month now, and when I first retired it was $45," he said. "But what do they do? They raise the pension, then they raise the price of a car?"

"I've got a brand new Dodge out there in the garage right now — always had Dodges — and this one cost me $5,100. It's the same damn car I bought the first time off John F. Dodge and Horace Dodge for $750. Ain't that much different, mister."

Hograever says he walked the picket line for 14 weeks in 1950 when the UAW won the pension plan at Chrysler. Then he retired the day after it went into effect.

"It's nice, but it sure can't cover what things cost nowadays," he said. "Went shoppin' the other day — I still drive — and it took me half a minute to spend my $10, and I carried the groceries home in the palm of my hand."

For more than 37 years, Hograever operated the huge hammer in a drop forge shop, smashing white-hot steel into tie rods.

"Never missed a day of work in my life. Never. Here I am pushing 90, and healthier than you are. Can't hear too good, of course, 'cause for 37½ years I only stood two feet away from that goddam hammer, and it hittin' 5,000 pounds on every whack."

Sirica seals bids to excuse Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica says two requests to throw out subpoenas demanding former President Richard M. Nixon's testimony in the Watergate cover-up trial will remain sealed until selection of the trial jury.

Asked Thursday when he thought selection of the 12 jurors and six alternates would be completed, Sirica said, "I think we have a good chance for the early part of next week."

Sirica talked to newsmen after he and prosecution and defense lawyers had spent a day in a locked courtroom interviewing potential jurors.

After nearly seven hours, they had completed only 10 interviews. Five persons were excused, apparently because the judge or the attorneys felt they had indicated bias. Five remained on the panel, still subject to one more round of challenges.

Each potential juror was asked nearly 100 questions.

Sirica formed a panel of 144 potential jurors for this phase of the selection process. Unless the pace picks up markedly, it will take more than a week to complete questioning of each.

Jurors who survive this phase still can be dropped through a limited number of additional challenges allowed attorneys for both sides. No reasons must be cited for the final round of challenges.

Sirica and the lawyers were questioning jurors when lawyers for Nixon delivered to the judge's office a sealed envelope containing motions asking him to quash subpoenas requiring Nixon's testimony.

One of the subpoenas was issued by defendant John D. Ehrlichman, former high ranking aide in the Nixon White House. The other came from special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

"I'm sealing everything involved in this matter until after the jury has been sequestered," Sirica said. He refused even to give copies to the prosecutors or Ehrlichman's attorneys.

Havana psychiatric hospital bright spot of Castro regime

By GEORGE GEDDA

Associated Press Writer

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban revolution may be heavy-handed in some ways, but it does have its humanitarian aspects. The Havana Psychiatric Hospital is one of them.

"Before the revolution, it was practically a death sentence to be sent to this hospital," says Dr. Sidney Orret, the hospital's deputy director.

"What we have now is proof that when you treat a patient as a human being he acts like a human being."

The hospital, located in the outskirts of Havana, is spotless. All of Cuba should eat as well as the 3,500 patients at this institution. Beef is served three times a week, while elsewhere in Cuba rationing limits meat purchases to three-quarters of a pound per person every nine days.

Unlike psychiatric hospitals in most other Latin-American nations, where patients often are left to their own devices, a full schedule of daily activities awaits each patient at the Havana hospital.

The day's activities are built around work, sports and recreation. Patients tend vegetable and flower gardens, attend literacy classes, give each other haircuts, run track and perform together in choral groups.

Orret has been at the hospital since 1946.

"One year, before the revolution, 87 patients died in a single day," he said. In all of last year, there were 73 deaths at the hospital, he said.

"The place used to be a doghouse."

Quake toll reaches 44 across Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peruvian air force planes and helicopters crisscrossed the countryside today to evaluate the effects of a severe earthquake Thursday.

Forty-four persons were known dead and at least 1,000 were reported injured, 92 of them seriously. Several cities or towns in central Peru reported extensive damage.

Workers in Lima, the capital, began clearing shattered walls, fallen cornices and broken glass from the streets. At least two houses collapsed. In Canete and Chincha, coastal cities south of Lima, 60 per cent of the houses were reported destroyed.

Emergency medical centers treated a steady flow of slightly injured or hysterical people. Authorities said 92 were hospitalized, 970 more were given first aid and 460 were treated for shock.

The quake struck at 9:21 a.m., and shocks continued for nearly an hour after the initial tremor.

Widespread panic was due to the memory of the devastating earthquake on May 31, 1970, in which 20,000 persons were killed and another 50,000 were reported missing.

GSA slates auction of federal vehicles

SHARONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The federal General Services Administration has announced that 93 used federal vehicles will be sold by auction at the Sharonville GSA depot on Oct. 10.

The GSA said the vehicles include cars, station wagons, a bus and a dump truck.

There were 60 or 70 beds for 1,200 patients. There were so many fights over beds and scarce food, we needed an orthopedic surgeon here more than psychiatrists."

The hospital is one demonstration of the emphasis the Cuban revolution has placed on improved health care.

Diarrhea, for example, the second biggest killer in Cuba in the 1950s, has almost been eradicated.

Temperature readings are expected to go up across Ohio this weekend with today's highs forecast in the upper 50s and 60s. Warmer weather is predicted for Saturday due to a southerly air flow pushing temperatures into the 70s.

Clouds covered portions of northern and western Ohio early this morning, while southeast sections generally were clear. Temperatures were in the upper 20s and 30s.

Lows overnight are forecast in the 40s and low 50s.

A chance of showers Sunday and Monday, clearing Tuesday. Highs in the upper 60s and low 70s. Lows in the low 50s Sunday, falling to the low 40s Tuesday.

Nixon goes home today

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's doctor says the former president can return to his San Clemente estate today, ending 12 days of tests and treatment at Long Beach Memorial Hospital for phlebitis and a blood clot in one lung.

Dr. John C. Lungren told newsmen Thursday that he would issue a final report on Nixon's illness later today, after his patient's expected departure, and outline his diagnosis of the illness, future treatment and the course of his recovery.

Results of tests for cancer have been negative, the physician said in his daily written bulletin.

Phlebitis, a painful vein inflammation affecting Nixon's left leg, can be a symptom of cancer in the stomach, lungs or pancreas, but it can also be caused by inactivity.

After Nixon entered the hospital, tests revealed that a small piece from the clot in his left leg had broken off and traveled to his right lung. After treating Nixon with anticoagulant drugs, Lungren said the lung clot had begun to be absorbed.

Mrs. Ford doing well

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford is making a faster-than-expected recovery from breast cancer surgery, President Ford reports.

"Betty's doing very, very well," Ford said Thursday. "She is about two or three days ahead of what the doctors prognosticated as the rate of recovery. So, we're very happy."

Ford commented as he gave a special greeting in his Oval Office to Mrs. George P. Wallace of Independence, Mo., a sister-in-law of former First Lady Bess Truman. Mrs. Wallace was on a bus tour of the capital.

A tight schedule prevented Ford from visiting his wife Thursday, but he talked to her by telephone during the day, aides said.

Co-op curbs urged in secret report

WASHINGTON (AP) — A confidential staff report of a Republican antitrust task force urges curbs on the power of big agricultural cooperatives as a means of fighting the high price of food.

The report already has been criticized by the House panel's members, some of whom represent rural districts. Chairman Rep. H. John Heinz III, the Pittsburgh pickle heir, said his task force discussed the report Wednesday and found it premature and in need of further study.

"It does not represent the position or views of the task force," he said, stressing that the report had not been intended for publication.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of the confidential report Thursday. Among its recommendations:

—A ban to keep corporations that process food from joining farmer-style cooperatives, which enjoy certain antitrust exemptions. This might force liquidation of one big co-op that already controls half the chickens sold in the United States.

Stock prices sink again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market all but ignored a prime-rate cut by two major banks and several smaller ones today and continued sinking in moderate trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 9.62 at 577.99, and losers held a 2-to-1 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the dominant force in the market was anxiety over the possible effects on the world's economies of continuing inflation and the oil squeeze. Such concerns apparently were strong enough to neutralize any enthusiasm engendered by the spreading quarter-point reduction to 11 1/2 per cent in the prime.

Simplicity Pattern was the most active NYSE stock, down 1/4 at 6 1/2. A 134,000-share block traded at 6 1/4.

The Big Board's broadly based composite index was down .36 at 32.53. Amex warrants, the volume leader on the American Stock Exchange, slipped 1/8 to 3 1/8.

Medicare costs rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning Jan. 1, the 23.5 million persons covered by Medicare will have to pay 9.5 per cent more in out-of-pocket hospitalization expenses because of inflation.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, announcing the new schedule Thursday, said each Medicare patient checking into a hospital will have to pay the first $92 of expenses, compared with the current $84.

Should the hospital stay exceed two months, the patient will pay $23 a day for the 61st through the 90th days, $2 more than at present.

If the person enters a skilled nursing home following hospitalization, he or she will pay $11.50 a day for the 21st through the 100th days, a $1 increase.

The daily out-of-pocket expense rises from the present $40 to $46 if the patient draws upon his once-only reserve of 60 hospital days.

Little New England backlash seen

By DICK BRAUDE
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The six-state New England region, which often takes pride in its political independence, shows little evidence of any post-Watergate backlash against Republicans or incumbents in general as election time approaches.

An Associated Press survey of state and congressional election races in Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut shows that incumbents are favored in most races. Other front-runners are comprised largely of present or past office-holders.

Campaigns in which incumbent are facing the stiffest challenges are focusing strictly on state issues such as taxes and the local economy.

Governor's offices in all six states are up for grabs, along with three U.S. Senate seats and 25 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

There will be at least two new governors, two new U.S. senators and six new congressmen in the region due to retirements, incumbents seeking higher office and in one case a primary election loss.

The Senate openings are in New Hampshire and Vermont where two veteran Republicans are retiring. Despite Watergate's alleged harm to the GOP, the two senators are expected to be replaced by two Republican congressmen.

U.S. Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., is the favorite to replace Sen. Norris Cotton, a conservative. Wyman apparently has overcome efforts of his Democratic opponent, former state Insurance Commissioner John Durkin, to tie the congressman to former President Richard M. Nixon.

U.S. Rep. Richard Mallary, R-Vt., is expected to replace Republican Sen. George D. Aiken who has spent 34 years in the Senate.

Mallary is popular throughout the state and his Democratic rival, County Prosecutor Patrick Leahy, is bucking a Vermont tradition of sending Republicans to the Senate for the past 140 years.

The third U.S. Senate race is in Connecticut, where Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, a Democratic liberal, is favored over state Rep. James Brannen, the first black elected to the state General Assembly.

The hottest gubernatorial races are in Maine and Connecticut where incumbents are not, or cannot, seek reelection.

Democratic Maine Gov. Kenneth Curtis is prohibited by state law from succeeding himself after two terms.

His departure opens the way for former state Atty. Gen. James Erwin, a GOP conservative; Democratic National Committeeman George Mitchell; businessmen James Longley and Stanley Leen and County Court Clerk William Hughes, all independents.

In Connecticut, Republican Gov. Thomas Meskill decided not to seek reelection and was nominated for a federal judgeship by Nixon the day before the former president resigned.

Meskill's job will go either to GOP congressman Robert Steele or Democratic congresswoman Ella Grasso. She could become the first woman in the nation to win the office without the aid of a husband who preceded her.

Cincy target of school lawsuit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The civil rights attorney who narrowly missed combining 54 Detroit area school districts into a single metropolitan system says his staff will make a similar attempt in Cincinnati using guidelines suggested by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Louis Lucas, Memphis, Tenn., added, however, the NAACP action in Detroit is not over.

Lucas said Thursday he will file an amendment in two weeks to the NAACP suit against the Cincinnati

Board of Education seeking to include all 21 suburban districts in Hamilton County.

"It is better to do it sooner than later," Lucas said of the added move to the May 29 suit in U.S. District Court. "We want to be sure everybody who wants to be heard gets heard."

The U.S. Supreme Court voted 5-4 July 25 against a plan which had been approved by a lower court for integrating schools in the Detroit area. Lucas said the high court indicated the suit did not prove that the suburban districts or state officials had set up or operated the suburban districts to prevent integration.

NAACP attorneys are now researching the suburban districts around Cincinnati to determine if boundaries follow racial lines.

Lucas said the high court's decision generally means the NAACP must prove that creation of a district, or operation of that district affects the racial makeup of another district.

Cincinnati's 70,000-pupil system is about 50 per cent black. Most of the suburban districts have very few blacks.

The NAACP suit here accused the Cincinnati school board of maintaining racial isolation by ignoring a total desegregation order from a previous board. The new board indicated it would maintain neighborhood schools, integrated teaching staffs and set up alternative schools to attract students of all races and economic backgrounds.

The suit noted the city has racially-identifiable schools and asked for a metropolitan solution.

The school board's defense relies on the 1968 Tina Deal decision in which the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that a school district cannot be held responsible for racial isolation which results from changing racial housing patterns within the district.

The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review that decision, allowing it to stand.

Attorney James Farrel, representing several districts, said the suburbs will maintain their right of autonomy.

Robert Crabbs, superintendent of the Mariemont district, welcomed the challenge.

"If we're not in it we can't contribute anything," said Crabbs.

American Legion chief hits amnesty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford's amnesty plan for draft evaders and deserters is still a touchy subject for the American Legion.

National Cmdr. James Wagoner, who returned here Thursday from a tour of the Far East, said Ford's program was a "direct insult" to the men who served in the armed forces in Vietnam.

"We are opposed to the amnesty program President Ford has proposed and put into effect," Wagoner said. "The legion commander said draft evaders should be treated on a 'case-by-case basis' rather than under the alternative service program currently being implemented.

He said jobs should be offered first to Vietnam veterans rather than going to evaders as alternate service. "I think it's a direct insult to these men (veterans)," he said.

Wagoner, who met with Ford before leaving on his trip four weeks ago, said he and the President had agreed that deserters should be tried before military courts. Since then a loophole in the program has been disclosed which permits deserters to accept a less than honorable discharge rather than face trial. This is unacceptable, he said.

"We are completely opposed to blanket amnesty," Wagoner said. But, he added, "We are not completely opposed to amnesty."

The legion plans no dramatic action in opposition to the Ford plan, he said. "Certainly, we are not going to make a march on Washington."

Wagoner who is from Lancaster about 20 miles southeast of here was elected to a one-year term as national commander last August.

He said he "received military and diplomatic briefings at the highest level," during a four week trip that took him to Alaska, Japan, Okinawa, Taiwan, the Philippines and Hawaii. He did not visit Vietnam because "supposedly we don't have any troops there any more."

The legion is continuing efforts to gain information about service men missing in action in Southeast Asia, Wagoner said. But in answer to a question, he added: "I don't believe... there are a large number of them alive. There may be some."

Abortion payments processed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Deputy State Auditor Thomas Ferguson says his office has begun processing Medicaid payments for elective abortions, but doubts any checks will be sent out before a legal dispute over the payments is settled.

Ferguson said the auditor will appeal a ruling Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge Robert Duncan denying a request to stay an order requiring the payments.

The auditor's office had sought the stay pending an appeal of a Sept. 17 decision by Duncan that the state must pay the costs of an abortion for any woman on welfare who qualifies for Medicaid.

The office has limited payments to abortions that are considered necessary to the preservation of the life or health of the woman.

Ferguson said it will take about two weeks to obtain a decision from the U.S. Sixth District Court of Appeals on the stay order appeal. He said it is unlikely that processing of any of the Medicaid payments for elective abortions will be completed before then.

The American Civil Liberties Union, which initiated the court action, said the case involves about $346,000 in payments.

MT counselors attend annual guidance meet

Fred Doyle and Mrs. Margaret S. Dowler, guidance counselors at Miami Trace High School, were two of over 1,500 participants in the 22nd All-Ohio Guidance Conference held in Columbus recently.

"Getting It Together" was the theme of the conference, which opened with an address from Kenneth Richards, director, division of guidance and testing, Ohio Department of Education.

Guest speaker for the first general session were Dr. C. Gilbert Wrenn, professor emeritus at Arizona State University.

The second general session featured guest speaker Dr. Kenneth Hoyt, associate commissioner, office of career education, U.S. Department of Education.

Doyle and Mrs. Dowler also attended group sessions on "Confidentiality and the Counselor" and "Transaction Analysis" from among the 37 group and special session presentations scheduled during the conference.

Counselors attending the conference were able to select guidance materials and information about colleges and technical schools when viewing the more than 120 exhibits.

The conference, held each year to assist counselors improve and keep aware of new techniques and issues, is co-sponsored by the Ohio School Counselors Association and the Ohio Education Association.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that The Dayton Power and Light Company has formally requested The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to approve temporary increases in rates charged for Electric Service on the basis of an emergency which threatens injury to the business and interests of the public and the Company. The Company seeks approval to collect additional annual electric revenue of $24,670,000 through the application of a 14.0% surcharge applied to electric billings exclusive of fuel adjustment amounts. If the proposed surcharge is approved the temporary additional revenues would be collected until a determination is made of the permanent rate changes requested in the Company's Application in Case No. 74-283-Y, filed May 9, 1974, to increase its rates charged for Electric Service by $30,306,780 based on the test period of the twelve months ended December 31, 1973.

On November 6, 1974 at 9:30 a.m. local time at the offices of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, 111 North High Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215 a hearing will be held on the proposed surcharge. Further information may be obtained from The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio or the Company.

Opinion And Comment

Writing for fun and profit

The title of the best-selling Woodward and Bernstein book on Watergate, "All the President's Men," might appropriately be amended by adding the phrase, "...are doing very well, thank you." Despite jail sentences and some minor tragedies, the president's men seem to be capitalizing on their experience.

Perjurer Jeb Stuart Magruder reportedly received a $100,000 advance on his book about Watergate, and the book now is selling well. E. Howard Hunt, famed as a "plumber" and author of thrillers, is publishing his autobiography. Even G. Gordon Liddy, the most tight-lipped of the entire crew, is said to be preparing an essay for Harper's entitled "Gordon Liddy: A Patriot Speaks."

And then one comes to the chief figure in the whole Watergate mess, Richard M. Nixon. As a former president, he can anticipate good readership - which is to say, good sales - of almost any words he sets down on paper. Being the first president to have resigned in disgrace adds to the potential saleability of his forthcoming memoirs.

The figure of two million dollars bruited about may turn out to be high. One recalls, for example, that President Lyndon Johnson's memoirs did not do nearly as well in sales as had been expected. Still, Nixon can look forward to a very considerable sum - a fortune, by common standards - as the reward for his literary efforts. So far as the literary ambitions of the former president and his men are concerned, Watergate has not been a blight but a boon.

A WORD EDGEWISE By John P. Roche

Violating the rules

With all due respect for Henry Kissinger's accomplishments and his ego, I think President Ford made a serious error when he retained the Secretary of State in the dual role of White House National Security advisor. The main task of the White House National Security staff is to protect the President from his operating agencies. This can hardly be accomplished if the chief operator is also the chief watchman. Yet when Mr. Ford's advisors suggested Kissinger be divested of his White House functions, the reaction was to deny that the suggestion had been made - and add that it was none of the advisors' business anyway.

When Kissinger entered the White House in 1969 he found a small National Security staff. (To the best of my recollection Walt Rostow had about 20 specialists; McGeorge Bundy, Rostow's predecessor, about the same number.) Kissinger went to work and within six months practically filled a building. In effect, he established his private State Department.

Why Secretary of State William Rogers put up with this flagrant invasion of his turf, which would have sent even a relatively ambitious man into a spasm, is a state secret. (One theory was that he was just keeping the chair warm until a Supreme Court vacancy appeared.)

The departure of Rogers gave Mr. Nixon the opportunity to appoint Kissinger Secretary of State, but, presumably because of the close personal relationship the two men had struck up, the President retained him in charge of the White House apparatus. Although this provided a certain symmetry, it violated every rule in the political book, a volume in which more weight is given to original sin than to symmetry.

To put it bluntly, the President's National Security advisor has to run an espionage system on State, Defense, the CIA, and other agencies in the field of foreign affairs. The man in this slot, while not a paranoid, must start with the presumption that anything that can go wrong probably will. Not from malice, but from sheer bureaucratic ineptness. He has to try to head off blunders and make sure that the President gets every bit of information necessary in making a decision. In short, his relationship with the operating agencies has to be an adversary one.

Let me give a few examples from my own experience both as a participant and a close observer. A distinguished specialist in foreign affairs was under consideration for a top position at the State Department. On the appointed day he was interviewed by the Undersecretary of State and shortly thereafter dropped by to see me at the White House. While he didn't say so flatly, it seemed clear to me he was not interested in the job. Still later I ran into Walt Rostow, who jubilantly told me that "X has come on board." "How do you know?" "Undersecretary Y told me."

A press release was in the works, but when I expressed by doubts Walt put a freeze on it. I then called the candidate, who had just gotten home, and he said he had politely turned the position down. Fortunately the story didn't leak - we would have looked like idiots - but Lyndon Johnson achieved new heights in his vivid description of the Undersecretary.

Or take the 1967 political situation in Saigon. With Vietnamese presidential elections coming up, the question was what role should the Americans play. I have always been a cynic of matters of this sort: my theory is that Vietnamese are going to do better at Vietnamese politics than Americans. (Conversely, I could take any Vietnamese in Massachusetts.) But the American Mission was full of characters who thought politics was a game played with an erector set, the most offender being General Edward Lansdale, who believed he had invented Philippine President Ramon Magsaysay and was wandering around Vietnam looking for a local worthy of his sponsorship.

Without going into the details - which were at times hilarious - there were several of us who believed, first, that the American ambassador should be nobody's campaign manager; and, second, that if we did get into the business, the man to watch was Thieu, not Ky. Both Harry McPherson, Johnson's Special Counsel, and I kept sending memos on the subject to the President (carbons to Walt Rostow - LBJ always kept his lines open and never permitted a staff man to censor the input), who decided to leash the Mission and let the Viets work out their own politics.

When Thieu walked over Ky, life at the White House got interesting. First, the President got the news from the Associated Press ticker, not from State, which led to some verbal pyrotechnics. Second, he accused McPherson and me of instigating Thieu's victory! And third, he congratulated us on earning our pay: "Remember, you work for me - stay right on their backs." Good advice for President Ford.

Kissinger trip to mean little

NEW YORK (AP) - No major progress toward an Arab-Israeli settlement is expected during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's trip to the Middle East next week, a senior American official said today.

Apparently trying to head off anticipation of a breakthrough, the official said all that is expected from the secretary's visits to Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel is an understanding of what may come next.

The source emphasized there would be no repeat of the shuttling back and forth between Arab cities and Israel that marked Kissinger's previous Middle East trips. That will happen again only when a crucial stage has been reached, and that is extremely unlikely next week, the official said.

Ohio Perspective

Brown, Celeste great opposites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio's 1974 contest for lieutenant governor matches men of different styles and generations:

—John W. Brown, 60, Republican incumbent who has held the office for 16 years after his rise from meager beginnings in Appalachia; banquet speaker, story teller, parliamentarian.

—Richard F. Celeste, 36, Democratic challenger whose family sent him to Yale to study history during the time his father, Frank Celeste, was mayor of Lakewood; later a Rhodes scholar, fencer, occasional player of tennis.

Brown, a native of Athens and graduate of Lancaster High School, worked at various odd jobs, including theater usher and short-order cook, before he became a state highway patrolman. He served as a pharmacist mate in the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II.

An angular man who used to dress like Abraham Lincoln for political functions in his earlier days, Brown served two terms as mayor of Medina in the late 1940's and early 1950's before he ran for lieutenant governor the first time and took office in 1952.

Brown served as governor for 11 days in 1957, but otherwise has seen that office evade him, largely because he stood in the shadow of James A. Rhodes, the GOP standard-bearer for chief executive again this year for the fourth time.

Brown was interim governor when former Gov. Frank J. Lausche went to the U.S. Senate before his term ended and before the present chief justice of the state Supreme Court, C. William O'Neill, became governor.

The lieutenant governor is an ardent boating enthusiast who, with his wife, Violet, maintains homes in Medina and Columbus. He heads a state capital insurance firm in private life.

Celeste, tall with modish long hair, is being billed by some supporters as a candidate in the Kennedy style. The tag may strain him a bit. Some of his Columbus associates say he works to overcome a tendency to be a little introverted.

He studied fencing at Oxford "because you had to have a sport." He used to play a lot of tennis, but now gets to it only about twice a year, he said.

He likes to read books, watch movies and travel with Dagmar (pronounced Dah-mar), his wife of Austrian extraction whom he met while studying at Oxford, and their five children, ages 3 to 11. He resigned early this year as head of a family housing development firm when he decided to run for statewide office.

Celeste, now majority whip of the Ohio House where he is finishing his second term, said he became interested in politics when his grandmother took him as a boy of 13 to see the sights in Washington, D.C. His interest grew when his father became mayor.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She says "converse,"
he says "convert!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school senior. I attend church regularly and am active in our church youth group. My problem is a friend of mine. He's a nice guy and we study together, but he belongs to another church, and keeps hassling me about my religion. He thinks it's his mission to go around converting people to HIS religion. We've had some pretty hot arguments about this, and I've told him he is wasting his time if he thinks he's going to turn me off my religion and on to something else.

I don't want to end our friendship because he's the most intelligent friend I have, but how can I convince him that I am happy with my own religion and don't want to change?

DEAR J.: Send him this quote from a letter that Thomas Jefferson wrote to Mrs. H. Harrison Smith in 1816: "I never told my own religion nor scrutinized that of another. I never attempted to make a convert nor wished to change another's creed. I am satisfied that yours must be an excellent religion to have produced a life of such exemplary virtue and correctness. For it is in our lives, and not from our words that our religion must be judged."

And J., if your friend is as intelligent as you say he is, he will get your message and act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I work together delivering morning newspapers. We start out at 1 a.m. and finish up about 5 a.m.

It's dark out at that time and many of the house numbers are hidden by big bushes, and some house numbers have been painted over and are impossible to read from the street so my husband has to get out of the truck and look around for the house numbers with a flashlight.

With so much meanness in the world today, he could be mistaken for a prowler. Not only that, but it's time-consuming to get out of the truck, set the brakes, and go looking around for house numbers. I hope you use this in your column to let folks know how they can solve our problem.

PAPER PEOPLE

DEAR PEOPLE: Your letter could solve that problem for others who must make deliveries at night.

DEAR ABBY: "Stumped" asked how to say no to sex, since she was a divorcee and couldn't use that old "I'm saving myself for marriage" excuse. You told her she didn't need an excuse - just give him a flat "no!"

Well that would run a guy off permanently, which may not be what the lady wants to do. Perhaps she would like to get to know him better.

I suggest that she say, "Don't rush me." That's not a flat "no," and she doesn't run the risk of hurting the man's ego.

ODESSA, TEXAS

DEAR ODESSA: "Don't rush me" has a ring of promise to it that may be misleading. And how long must man remain in a holding pattern before the lady no longer feels "rushed?"

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Oct. 4, the 277th day of 1974. There are 88 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1957, the space age began as the Soviet Union put the first spacecraft into orbit around the earth.

On this date -

In 1777, the British defeated American forces in the Revolutionary War battle of Germantown in Pennsylvania.

In 1824, the Republic of Mexico was proclaimed.

In 1910, Portugal's monarchy ended as King Emanuel fled to escape revolutionaries.

In 1940, during World War II, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini conferred at Brenner Pass in the Alps.

In 1945, the Premier of the French Vichy government, Pierre Laval, was put on trial in Paris. He later was executed as a traitor.

In 1965, Pope Paul VI addressed the United Nations General Assembly, appealing for world peace.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Hilda moved into Mississippi as a rain storm after leaving more than 30 persons dead and millions of dollars in property damage in Louisiana.

Five years ago: Communist China belatedly announced its two latest nuclear weapons tests, including a new hydrogen bomb explosion in the atmosphere.

One year ago: Peace talks were begun in Northern Ireland in an attempt to end five years of conflict that had taken nearly 900 lives.

Today's birthdays: Actor Charlton Heston is 50 years old. Baseball coach Frank Crosetti is 64.

Clergymen attack Nixon pardon

By GEORGE CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — From a Judeo-Christian standpoint, several theologians say that President Ford's pardon of Richard M. Nixon was not in keeping with the way forgiveness works in a religious sense.

They say that in moral terms forgiveness cannot take effect without acknowledgement of guilt and the need of being forgiven and that this factor had been missing in the case of Nixon.

From the Biblical perspective, "you can only have forgiveness if there is some kind of admission of fault before or after the forgiveness is given," says the Rev. Dr. Walter Wink, a New Testament scholar of New York's Union Theological Seminary.

"Otherwise you can't accept it or recognize the need of it."

In Nixon's case, "he has consistently denied he was morally culpable," Dr. Wink said in an interview. "He's still pretending the space he's in is clean space."

"That's the reason so many people are incensed by the pardon. It has legal force, but no moral force. The moral issue has been swept under the rug, and that's what's tearing the country apart. People have been kicked back into the skepticism that they thought President Ford would deliver them from."

Rabbi Dr. Robert Gordis, professor of Bible and the philosophies of religion at New York's Jewish Theological Seminary, said he knew of no religion which teaches that forgiveness can be extended "without some clear, definitive avowal of an offense, whether against man or God."

"While not impugning the sincerity of President Ford's motives, his act does not meet the requisites of forgiveness in religious tradition. Forgiveness presupposes the readiness of the person forgiven to recognize his offense. Until that happens a pardon makes very little sense. It's illogical. It violates the principles."

The religious scholars said an entirely different point was involved in regard to amnesty for draft evaders, since amnesty means a wiping out or "forgetting," not forgiving. "It says okay, we'll drop it, forget it, with no implications about who's right or wrong," Dr. Wink noted.

In the pardon, however, the Rev. Dr. Martin Marty of the University of Chicago Divinity School said Ford had dispensed "cheap grace."

"I'm really puzzled when church people say Mr. Ford was accurately reflecting the Christian sequence," he said.

"The President may have been moved by his faith, but he declared mercy before there was a sign of contrition, remorse or repentance. Nor had there been a declaration of guilt. In Christian terms, a pardon at that point of the sequence trivializes the sense of justice and right."

'Church Day' is observed

The regular United Methodist Women 'Church Day' was held Wednesday evening in Grace United Methodist Church, when Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, president, opened the meeting with an inspirational reading, "Jesus and Me." Reports were given and it was announced that the "Talent Jar" opening will be Nov. 12 at 1 p.m. in the chapel.

A training day at the New Holland United Methodist Church will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 22. The annual fall rummage sale will be Oct. 25 and 26; the United Church Women luncheon and program will be Nov. 1 in First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Claude Davis gave an interesting report on her visit to South Side Settlement in Columbus. Mrs. Everad Broberg presented devotions. With the painting of Christ by Warner Sallman in the background, she gave an informative and descriptive account of his life and how he came to paint the picture that sold over 100 million copies.

Miss Norma Dodd narrated and showed slides of her trip to the Orient and Japan and different islands for the program. Everyone was captivated by her beautiful slides and interesting narrations.

The Haynie Circle was hostess for the tea and coffee social hour following the meeting.

GUESTS OF NAZARENE — The Country Church Gospel Singers, of Valencia, Pa., will be at the Nazarene Church, Ohio 41-S, for special services Sunday. They will be featured at the Sunday School Rally at 9 a.m. and the regular worship service at 10:40 a.m. The group has been touring the United States and Canada during the past year and has recorded four albums.

Full Gospel Tabernacle ready for congregation

The Full Gospel Tabernacle has completed work on its church building at 250 E. Court St.

The local chapter of the church was organized Sept. 18, 1974, and has since merged with the congregation in Wilmington. Services at the tabernacle will be held at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday, Friday and Sunday evening. Church school classes will be held at 10 a.m. on Sundays, under the direction of the Rev. Rickie Jester, superintendent, The Rev. Henry Groves, of Washington C.H., and the Rev. William E. Moore of Sidney, will serve as co-pastors of the tabernacle.

The church is of the Pentecostal faith, rooted in belief in the gifts of the Spirit and in a working order, said its pastors.

SPECIAL SERVICES will commemorate the opening of the tabernacle. An Association Fellowship service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with a number of visiting ministers and gospel singers slated to attend. There will be a covered dish lunch served after the service.

The church is affiliated with the Gospel Tabernacle Association, headquartered in Sidney. The Rev. Mr. Moore is the moderator and the Rev. Jack Hamilton, of Harveysburg, is the general overseer. The Rev. Mr. Groves is the district supervisor for this district.

Additional information about the church may be obtained by calling Sister Pauline Marieue at 335-3221; or Mr. Groves, 335-4616.

Jeff Methodist hosts evangelist

The Jeffersonville United Methodist Church will host a series of evangelistic services at 7:20 p.m. daily, Monday through Thursday.

The guest evangelist will be the Rev. Roy Parker, of Pendleton, S.C. Miss Mary Jane Carter of the Carter Family Singers will be the guest song leader.

Special gospel music will be presented by Randy Woods and the Revelations Singers for the Sunday service. Monday through Thursday, the Christian Way Singers will present special music. Other guest musicians will be the Burns Sister Tuesday evening, Mrs. Barbara Sears and others.

The theme of the special services will be "Five Nights for God," and the public is invited.

By GLADYS KIRK

FROM THE INSIDE OUT

Special thanks to Don Kirk and Phil Holthouse for giving our Furniture Buyman's Tour such expertise. The group felt privileged to get to look inside furniture pieces to learn the construction and finishing techniques that are used on today's furniture. When our dozen stayed afterwards for an hour to ask questions (3 of them holding babies) you know you were giving them the information that they really wanted.

THE COMMUNITY'S CHILD

Most of us do not know the feeling of getting the news - "Your child is mentally retarded." Oh sure, we know families with retarded children and we may feel sorry for them. But they don't need someone to feel sorry for them. They need friends to baby-sit when they need to get away for the day; friends who will listen at a moment's notice; friends who will work for this child's right to be productive in his family and his community.

We're very lucky to have a few people in this community who are struggling to get the kind of facilities in our community that will offer these children a complete phase of education, starting with the parents of infants and continuing through adult manual skill training. Much needs to be done. If you'd like to help why not call Mr. Carl Whitaker at the Progressive School 335-1391.

Mrs. Clara Weade, Mrs. Virginia Lutz, and I will be attending the Washington C.H. District Health Conference on Thursday, at the Nike Center near Wilmington. We're looking forward to seeing the Opportunity Center there and find out what progress is being made in Mental Health in other communities.

CROCHET CLASSES START OCTOBER 7

Those of you who have envied those beautiful handmade crocheted afghans and sweaters - take note. A series of classes will be offered on Mondays, October 7, 14, 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Extension Office Auditorium. Mrs. Sandy Dale will be teaching the four basic stitches - single, double, triple, and half double as class members make a potholder or dish cloth, slippers, and doll's sweater, designed to also teach how to increase and decrease and read a pattern.

The waiting list alone almost has this class filled, so call 335-1150 today to register. If enough are interested we'll set up another evening. The $2.00 registration fee will include patterns and instructions. For the first lesson members will need to bring a size G crochet hook and rug yarn for a potholder or "Sugar and Cream" yarn for a dish cloth.

ARE YOU GETTING THE MOST FROM YOUR FOOD DOLLAR?

Comments heard in the grocery stores these days really tell me that families are concerned about how they are going to stretch their food budget to make up for rising prices.

On Thursday, October 17, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in Persinger Hall, First Presbyterian Church, you'll have a chance to find out from Ed Watkins, Extension Economist, Food Distribution, OSU what the expected good buys for the coming months are.

'Keys' OCCL Convention theme scheduled for Oct. 9 and 10

"Keys" will be the theme for the 54th Annual Convention of The Ohio Child Conservation League to be held on October 9-10 at the Sheraton-Columbus Hotel in Columbus. Members of the Columbus Federation of 31 leagues will be host for approximately 650 members.

Mrs. William Woolf, State president, resident of East Rochester, will conduct the opening business session at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, followed by Federation and League workshops to be conducted by CCL state and district officers. Each district president will arrange an exhibit for display throughout the convention.

Program on Wednesday morning will include the following workshop topics: "Constructing a Terrarium"; "What You Do Tells On You" - Non-Verbal Communication by Dr. Charles Galloway, OWU; and "Belly Dancing" by Habeeba and students.

Patriots topic of Browning Club

The Browning Club met at the home of Mrs. Willard Bitzer and Mrs. P.M. Cook opened the meeting with the group reading the Club Collect.

Twenty members and one guest, Mrs. Walter Thompson, were present.

Mrs. Ralph Scott read the secretary's minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. Orville Jenkins gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. E.F. Broberg told the story and then read the poem, "The Boy and the Angel," by Robert Browning.

Mrs. Cook introduced the speaker, Kenneth Craig, who told in a very interesting way of the many unknown facts of the lives, occupations, and contributions of the three patriots: Thomas Paine, Benjamin Franklin and Paul Revere.

By interspersing questions about each person at the beginning of his talk, he permitted members to test their own information and to arouse interest in the answer. History books generally limit the record of each to one or two facts: Thomas Paine is linked with the writings of Common Sense and Age of Reason; Benjamin Franklin is linked with a kite and lightning and Poor Richard's Almanac; and Paul Revere is linked with the ride on April 18, 1775 to warn the Massachusetts residents of the advance of the British soldiers.

Each of the three played an important part and to some fame was fleeing as with Thomas Paine, fame was not fleeing as with Benjamin Franklin, and fame was reduced as with Paul Revere. Mr. Craig portrayed these three individuals in such an interesting and informative way that members could see the varied activities and could feel they were living persons.

A social hour followed with the hostesses being Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mrs. P.M. Cook and Dr. Bernice O'Brian.

NAMED TO WHO'S WHO - Diane Conley, senior at Miami Trace High School, is to be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School students, 1973-74, the largest student award publication in the nation. Diane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Elliott of 4888 St. Rt. 41NW, is active in the marching and symphonic bands, Y-Teens, Future Teachers Association, Future Homemakers of America, Mitra Yearbook staff and co-editor of Tracer Page, treasurer of National Honor Society, and was a delegate to Buckeye Girls' State this summer.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the ranks of women sportscasters on local stations are slowly increasing, you can count on one thumb the number of female sportscasters hired to work full-time at the network level.

She's Jane Chastain, 31, a six-year veteran of sports chronicling at WTVJ-TV in Miami. CBS-TV signed her up only last week.

It's not unusual now to see a woman sports commentator on a network. But they're always hired on a short-term basis, or signed on a one-shot agreement to help cover, say, a specific women's golf or tennis tournament.

What makes Mrs. Chastain's contract with CBS unique is that it runs five years, subject, CBS says, to the usual cancellation clauses most contracts of this kind contain.

Another unusual part of the deal: CBS says her work will involve a wide variety of sports coverage, including profootball on occasion.

Mrs. Chastain, born in Knoxville, Tenn., raised in Atlanta, Ga., and married to an industrial designer, was packing for a trip and somewhat harried when called this week to see how she felt about her new job.

"I knew I'd probably sign up with CBS," laughed the sportscaster, who slightly resembles Mary Tyler Moore. "But when they call you, they want you yesterday. I just learned about my schedule last Friday."

It calls for her to be in Chicago this Saturday, covering a women's world open bowling tournament with CBS colleague Brent Mussberger. On Sunday, she'll share the broadcast booth with Mussberger and playanalyst John Sauer, and do a bit of commentary on a regional CBS telecast of the Chicago Bears-New Orleans Saints football dispute.

Next Sunday, she'll be in New York, working on the network's pregame, halftime and postgame NHL football roundup. And she'll also continue her local sports work, though on a limited basis, at WTVJ.

Mrs. Chastain, whose sports stories occasionally have appeared on the CBS Morning News, says she got into the sportscasting dodge 12 years ago, predicting football results as "Coach Friday" on an Atlanta TV station.

Women change some views on marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — A good marriage is still the dream of American women, but they want some changes made, according to a national poll.

Communal living, living alone or living with someone without being married were viewed as the most satisfying way of life by only 3 per cent of the women interviewed in the American Women's Opinion Poll conducted by The Roper Organization.

But while 96 per cent of women still see marriage as the best way to live, the poll reported that more than half now want to combine marriage, children and careers. Sixteen per cent of the women interviewed said wives should not vow to obey their husbands.

Love is still the major reason women cite for getting and staying married. But after love, the poll indicated some shifts in marital priorities.

Personal compatibility in marriage — being able to talk together about feelings — is more important to women than sexual fidelity, having children or financial security, the poll reported today.

Three out of five women under 30 years old said one or two children was enough, according to the poll. Premarital sex was viewed as immoral by 53 per cent of the women, down from 65 per cent in 1970.

For the first time, a majority of women indicated support for the women's movement goal of strengthening the status of women in society.

Home freezer sales zoom

By WILLIAM DIMASCIO
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Home freezers are the hottest selling major appliance in this inflation-wracked year, marketing reports show.

The sales boom is generally attributed to consumers' desires to hedge on rising food costs by buying in quantity. But home economists caution that buying food in bulk is not always the least expensive way to shop.

A study done at Pennsylvania State University showed that the edible portion of a side of beef bought in bulk actually costs 34 cents a pound more than if the same meat were bought separately at supermarket prices.

Still, savings can be made in money and convenience, and homemakers are snapping up freezers at a record rate.

Guenter Baumgart, president of the National Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, says freezer sales this year are running 26 per cent higher than the record level set in 1973, while appliance buying in general is down 6 per cent this year.

"It's concern over higher food prices," Baumgart said. "People think they can save by buying in quantity."

If the current rate holds, more than 3 million freezers will be sold this year — twice as many as in 1972. Baumgart said this rate of sales growth is unmatched since the post-World War II demand for refrigerators and washing machines.

The association estimates that only one home in three now has a freezer and manufacturers are looking for ways to expand production.

A spokesman for Westinghouse Corp. estimated that retail freezer prices have increased 25 per cent in the last two years, but said his company was having substantial difficulty meeting retailer demands.

"Inflation gave the freezer business a shot in the arm," he said. "But this is not a short-term thing. We're in a freezer-type economy."

School bus costs zoom

CHICAGO (AP) — Safety requirements for next year's school buses may push price tags beyond the reach of many school districts, industry and safety officials say.

Some school districts already are feeling the pinch of price hikes of 25 per cent or more in the last year, said Edward T. Clayton of Blue Bird Body Co. of Fort Valley, Ga. The firm is one of six major school bus producers.

Much of the increase in prices is due to higher raw material costs. But officials who gathered for a National Safety Congress meeting in Chicago said Wednesday they expect additional hikes to result from safety advances such as padded seat backs and guard railings.

Exact costs have not been tabulated, they said. A 66-passenger bus now costs from $14,000 to $16,000, depending on safety specifications in a given state, Clayton said.

Clayton predicted that continued cost hikes would mean "schools in some states will be operating 10-year-old buses."

Robert B. Kurre, an engineer for the Wayne Transportation Co. of Richmond, Ind., said in a telephone interview that it's too early to measure the sales impact of price increases.

He said most school districts submit orders early in the calendar year for fall delivery. A spokesman for the School Bus Manufacturers' Institute in Washington, D.C., agreed.

James Tidings, chief engineer for Thomas Built Buses Inc. of High Point, N.C., said from 12 to 25 school bus passengers die annually. Government figures put the annual death toll at 25 to 35, with some 5,000 injuries.

One major change proposed by the government would require foam padding on top, back and sides of seats on next year's models.

Business news

Club 22 acquired by local resident approximately two more years.

LOUDNER'S BARBECUE, located nearby on the CCC Highway, has been found in violation of its liquor permit by the liquor control commission.

According to the commission, the establishment discontinued operation of the permit business for a period in excess of 30 days without notifying the department, which is a violation of terms.

The commission has therefore suspended the permit at the business for a period of 21 days from noon Oct. 17 until noon Nov. 7.

The Club 22, CCC Highway-W, has been sold by Delores (Dee) Crabtree, owner operator of the local night club for the past several years.

The purchaser of the operation is Marvin (Cookie) Cook, who has been a manager of the Lafayette Inn, CCC Highway-W, for some time. The purchase is contingent upon approval of the liquor permit transfer for the business.

Application for the transfer of license has been submitted to the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, Columbus, but has been slow in processing because of the large volume of applications each fall. Cook has taken over of as manager of the Club 22 while the application is pending.

He said that the club will maintain the same hours and types of musical entertainment that patrons have come to know over the past years. Although he sees no immediate change, some modification will be made at a future date. The alterations are only tentative, however, and Cook is not prepared to supply details at this time.

He has announced there will be a grand opening celebration when the liquor permit transfer is completed and the sale finalized.

Mrs. Crabtree said that her plans for the future are not yet definite, but she will spend some time traveling. Although she has enjoyed her work and the many people she has met through their patronage, operating the establishment requires long hours daily, and she is ready for some relaxation, she said.

She added that several people discussed purchasing the club from her, but she felt that Cook's experience and personality weighed heavily in her decision.

The building is owned by James and Larry Chrisman and is not involved in the purchase. However, the facilities and furnishings are included in the transfer. Cook will assume Mrs. Crabtree's lease which continues for

Curtailed gas service seen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. predicts it will have to curtail natural gas service for 60-100 days to 94 retail and industrial customers who have special contracts.

October immunization month

Are your children fully protected against childhood disease?

The Fayette County Health Department asks parents to check records to make sure their children have received vaccinations and to take unvaccinated children to their physician or the local health department without delay.

In Ohio, October has been designated as the kickoff month for the "National Immunization Action Month Campaign."

"We want to make immunization a year around program in Ohio, instead of a once-a-year campaign," says Dr. William E. Covert, Fayette County Health commissioner. "We want to continually remind parents to have their children immunized, not just at the start of school, but during the first few years of their child's life." "Some of the vaccines, including polio, should be started when the infant is only two months old," he explained. "Others are given at one year of age. People tend to delay vaccinations until the child approaches school age, leaving him vulnerable to disease during the first four or five years of life. It is this age group that will be hit hardest if epidemics occur."

ACCORDING to recent studies by the Ohio Department of Health, not enough children are being immunized against such diseases as polio, measles, rubella, tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough. The percentage of children immunized has declined annually to the point where widespread epidemics are once again a serious threat. "People seem to assume that these diseases have been conquered and there is nothing to worry about," warns Dr. Covert. "This kind of thinking is dangerous."

According to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., there still are children dying from these diseases each year. The real horror is to remain unimmunized. . . a tragic risk no child should face.

Children can receive immunizations from their private physician or through their Fayette County Health Department.

Parents of unimmunized children and those who are not sure if all vaccinations have been received should check with their physician or local health department. "Immunization is essential to protect the individual child against disease and to protect society against epidemics," concluded Dr. Covert.

Grade A horses just don't exist

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are Grade A eggs and Grade A milk, but the Agriculture Department says there are no Grade A horses.

The department distributed this notice today:

"Would you believe that reports coming to the U.S. Department of Agriculture tell of individuals who have bought horses branded with an 'A'?

"This identifies them as reactors to the Coggins test for equine infectious anemia (EIA or swamp fever)," the department said. "But some buyers thought they were getting certified, guaranteed Grade A horse — and at bargain prices."

Under federal rules, the "A" in a brand or lip tattoo in combination with numerals stands for anemia. Transport of such horses across state lines is prohibited except for special purposes such as slaughter or research.

A spokesman for the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said the one-page notices, which include a drawing of an A-branded horse, are being sent to horse editors and others who need to be alerted about the disease.

The malady, known commonly as swamp fever, until recently often escaped early detection because veterinarians lacked a quick test for the disease.

Now, since a new test was perfected a few years ago, check-ups have increased sharply. Last fiscal year, for example, 355,000 horses and other equines were tested, compared with 125,000 in 1972-73.

Results reported to USDA showed 9,089 of the animals — nearly 2.7 per cent — reacted positively. That meant those horses were suffering from the disease or were carriers.

Officials said there is no vaccine to prevent the disease and no cure.

Medical services course scheduled by Mac Tools

Twenty-nine employees of area governments and businesses are beginning an organized course of instruction to improve on the job emergency service.

Through the efforts and sponsorship of Mac Tools, Inc., an emergency medical services training instructor has been obtained to give 66 hours of instruction to local personnel through weekly training sessions. Certification will be awarded to those who successfully complete the course of instruction.

The services of the instructor are made available by the trade and industrial vocational education service of the Ohio Department of Education as a part of the public service training program.

The training is offered to improve squad protection and accident prevention in communities throughout the state. The value of the training is recognized and recommended by the U.S. Department of Transportation, Ohio Department of Health, Ohio Hospital Association, Ohio Ambulance

Association, Adhoc Committee on Emergency Medical Services.

The training will consist of instruction in anatomy and physiology, cardio pulmonary resuscitation, bleeding control, fractures, prevention and treatment of shock, with special emphasis on skills and technical information.

Written instructional materials are made available to the instructor and to each person by the Ohio Division of Vocational Education, and the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School is cooperating in the program.

Participating in the program are eight employees of Mac Tools, Inc., three from the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, five members of the Sabina Fire Department, five members of the Wilmington Fire Department, three employees of the Reynolds-Smith Funeral Home, Wilmington, four members of the Port William Fire Department, and one member of the New Burlington-Chester Township Fire Department.

Harboring junk autos brings suspended fine

A Milledgeville man was found guilty of harboring junk automobiles at his residence, and a New Holland man was found guilty of shoplifting during Thursday's hearing in Municipal Court.

William Jackson, of Milledgeville, became the first person charged under a Milledgeville village ordinance which prohibits keeping junk automobiles where they create a public eyesore. The charges were filed by Ronnie Anderson, Milledgeville mayor.

He was found guilty by acting Judge

John P. Case, who ordered him to pay a fine of $50. The fine was suspended, however, on the condition that Jackson either make the vehicles operational and purchase license plates, or have the autos removed.

Lawrence A. Snyder, 39, New Holland, was found guilty on a charge of shoplifting from Seaway. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Judge Case suspended $50 of the fine and 29 days of the jail term.

Dominicans want surrender from holed-up terrorists

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Terrorists holding seven hostages in the Venezuelan consulate for a week have scaled down their demands, but the Dominican government is expected to hold out for full surrender.

Shouting from a consulate window through an improvised cardboard megaphone, guerrilla leader Radames Mendez Vargas told newsmen conditions inside the consulate were becoming intolerable.

He said he was dropping his demand for $1 million ransom and would settle for safe passage to Mexico and Peru for himself, the other terrorists and some of the 37 political prisoners whose freedom he had demanded earlier. Six terrorists are believed to be holed up with the hostages.

There was no immediate response from President Joaquin Balaguer. But Dominican officials and foreign diplomats said they believed the retreat by Mendez Vargas strengthened the government's determination not to compromise.

These sources said they thought the terrorists would eventually agree to free American diplomat Barbara Hutchison and the other six hostages in exchange for safe conduct abroad for themselves alone. The government said earlier this week it would agree to that.

Thursday afternoon, U.S. Ambassador Robert A. Hurwitch and the Spanish ambassador put the daily delivery of food, water and other amenities inside the gate in the consulate fence. A man in a yellow shirt, presumably one of the terrorists, hesitantly emerged from the building, handed a note to a policeman, picked up the box and returned to the house.

The contents of the note were not disclosed.

Hurwitch said the guerrillas "have not shown any suicidal tendencies so far. Apparently they are not fanatics." But he said it may be days before the situation is resolved.

He added that the Dominican government had assured him it would not resort to violence unless provoked.

School issues eyed during PTO meeting

MADISON MILLS — Prior to the Madison Mills Parent Teacher Organization meeting, Ora Burdge, of the Miami Trace quality education committee, and Marion Waddle, school board member, talked to the group about the bond issues which will be on the November ballot.

At the beginning of the meeting, President Gary Hidy introduced the other officers for the 1974-75 school year. They are Miss Ann King, vice president; Mrs. Fred Webb, secretary; Mrs. Welby Seisinger, treasurer; and Mrs. Donald Stires, reporter.

Principal Michael Yambor then introduced the school faculty and received a large flag donated by last year's seventh and eighth grade classes.

Hidy announced that the American Legion will soon present the school with flags for each room.

The PTO voted to meet the first Tuesday of each month and scheduled a two-week membership drive. Mrs. Mike Syers will serve as membership chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry were named as chairmen of the skating party which is scheduled for Oct. 8. The PTO also voted to renew school magazine subscriptions, purchase a carton of facial tissues for school use, and allocate $20 to each teacher for school supplies.

Yambor reported that most of the playground equipment has arrived and some is already in use. The new lockers have not yet arrived, but are expected soon.

The PTO is collecting Campbell's labels from soup and bean products. Through a program sponsored by the firm, the labels can be used toward the purchase of audio-visual aids. Mrs. Gordon Payne is chairman.

The kindergarten class was awarded the $5 prize for having the greatest number of parents in attendance.

Data processing firm here still functioning as usual

Steele Data Processing is alive, well and functioning in Washington C.H. and Portsmouth, according to James Steele, executive vice president.

Earlier this year, Steele Data Processing gave notice to National Scanning, Inc., Columbus, that it would consider null and void the contracts which merged the companies in Aug., 1973.

In the notice to National Scanning, Marie Steele, company president, and her husband, James, cited omissions and misrepresentations made on the scanning company's financial reports prior to the merger.

At the same time Steele Data Processing, Inc., filed suit in Franklin County Common Pleas Court, stating that as part of the merger agreement the Steeles were to receive 200 shares of stock in National Scanning, Inc., valued at $50,000. The Steeles claim that the shares were in fact worth only about $6,000.

In light of this and other misrepresentations alleged in the petition, the Steeles requested the court to declare the merger void and award the plaintiffs damages in excess of $100,000. The case will not be aired in court until sometime in 1975 and since the filing on June 13, Steele Data Processing has conducted its business as a separate firm.

By Aug. 1, National Scanning had closed its doors and was preparing to file for bankruptcy. It had also filed a cross-complaint which claimed that the Steeles had acted illegally in rescinding the agreements and damaged the defendants in the amount of $1,000,000 as a result of their action.

AS STEELE related the events, shortly after the merger, Mr. and Mrs. Steele began to notice that bills owed local creditors were not being paid by the new "parent company." National Scanning, Inc. They employed a Columbus legal firm to investigate National Scanning's financial status, and the attorneys' report indicated the irregularities which were then cited in the lawsuit.

While the suit is pending, Steele Data Processing has been attempting to heal the wounds incurred by its brief association with National Scanning. In order to maintain its high reputation for integrity, Steele Data Processing has been paying on many local accounts which it claims should be paid by the scanning corporation. The unpaid bill total nearly $15,000.

"Although we feel that we are not responsible for these bills, leaving them unpaid would certainly harm the reputation we worked so long to establish," Steele said.

The Steeles said that since they have withdrawn from their association with National Scanning, Steele Data Processing is turning out the same high-quality work it had been known to provide in the past.

"Almost all of our old clients are still with us, and business is as good as ever," Steele said. "It will take time to right all the accounts, but with things going as well as they are it won't be too long," he added.

"National Scanning had some excellent computer men, but they did not have the business expertise Marie and I have gained building our firm from its infancy five years ago," Steele stated.

Steele also expressed his belief that the idea of a full-service computer operation is a good one and was sure that someone will be tremendously successful offering such wide-range service in the future.

"As for us, we have returned to, doing what we know best — data preparation and processing," Steele said.

Meat packing firm purchases acreage

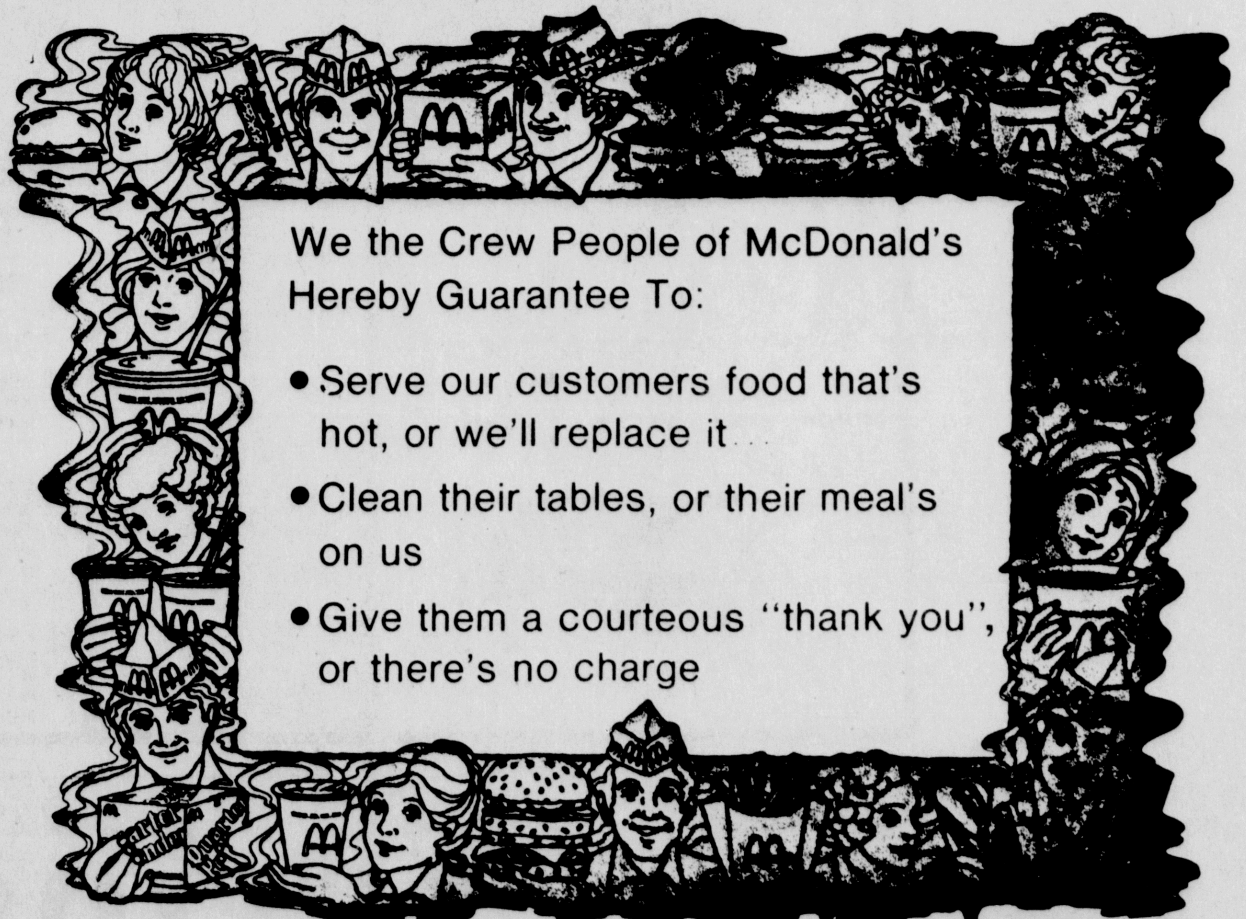

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — E. Kahn's Sons Co., Cincinnati's largest meat packing firm, has finalized a $650,000 agreement to purchase 10 of the 32 acres of the Cincinnati Union Stockyards to build a new packing plant.

The stockyards ceased hog operations in mid-September, but continues as a cattle market.

The Blue Lines

David Mustine and Gretchen Owen
Seniors of the Week

By CURRY KRUSE
Gretchen W. Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen, is the first of the featured seniors. Gretchen moved to Washington C.H. last year from East Liverpool, and has been very active at WSHS. She's the vice-president of senior Y-Teens; secretary of NHS; accompanist for Madrigal Choir and an active member of AFS, Future Nurses, and the Blue Lines staff. This week Gretchen was also selected as a member of the Washington C.H. "In The Know" team and will be seen in action on Channel 10, October 25.

Gretchen enjoys watching football and participating in basketball, ice skating, and swimming. Her hobbies consist of sewing, listening to John Denver, embroidering, and meeting people. She also has a magic thumb when it comes to cooking.

When asked about her personal beliefs, Gretchen replied, "Since I have attended several schools, I've had the opportunity to meet many types of people. I have learned that if you are yourself, and stick to your own self standards instead of trying to live up to someone else's, people will respect you for who you are instead of who you are trying to be. It's truly a fantastic feeling to know that you can enrich your life by making friends along the way. For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven. So, if we live everyday to it's fullest and trust in God to see us through, then good will happen for us and for the people around us."

Gretchen plans to go into the field of medicine or physical therapy after high school.

David Mustine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. (Bud) Mustine, 609 Charlotte Court, is the second featured senior.

He is president of student council, a member of Hi-Y, the National Honor Society, the Blue Lines staff and the Hi-Y Youth-in-Government program. This week he was selected to serve on the "In-the-Know" team.

His comment on his future plans were directed toward college at Miami University where he would like to do undergraduate work and some day enter a law school. When asked how he felt about his senior year he said, "I hope I can fully prepare myself, both academically and spiritually, so that I can be of some benefit to people and society."

Dance sponsored by COE members

By JULIA FOSTER
Clubs and groups are always trying to find ways of earning money to support various projects at WSHS. One method proved very effective following the Washington C.H.-Portsmouth game. Since students always seemed to be saying, "There's nothing to do after the game," the COE class decided to make that evening an exception by sponsoring a sock hop. It was held in the school cafeteria, and it was an hour and half of fun, laughter, dancing, as well as plenty of conversation. There was a large crowd and only elbow room on the dance floor and in the hall. Entertainment was provided by "Hogwash."

COE class officers are Mary Lee Warning, president; Julie Begin, vice president; Vera Storer, secretary; LuAnn Dowler, treasurer; Mary McConkey, parliamentarian, and Rhonda Penwell and Lyn Mason, historians.
The dance was a financial success for the club and a social success for all who attended.

MAGAZINES WILL BUY LION — The annual magazine sale began at WSHS last Friday after an assembly for the student body. Company representatives explained the sales process and also told the students about the prizes. Students will be trying to sell enough subscriptions to win an 80-pound fiberglass Blue Lion. Mary Ann Woods, pictured with Principal Fred E. Jones, was the winner of an AM-FM radio on the opening day of the sale after selling three subscriptions.

Old variety stores on way out

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The last two decades haven't been kind to that old familiar Main Street fixture, the five-and-dime store.

In the '60s, they faced sudden competition from the new discount stores and mounting consumer demand for a one-stop shopping center with plenty of parking.

Now in the '70s, big general merchandisers like Woolworth, W.T. Grant and S.S. Kresge see property taxes soaring in downtown locations, making giant, high-volume outlets in shopping malls even more attractive.

This combination of factors has forced national variety chains to alter radically, and often painfully, their basic merchandising philosophies, some of which, like Woolworth's, evolved over nearly a century.

Not that variety outlets have become unprofitable albatrosses in every case. But few national retailers seem interested in building them anymore.

"We haven't opened up a variety-type store in five years," a spokesman for W.T. Grant says. "The national retailers have left that field to smaller regional concerns. The big companies are getting the hell out of it."

The name most synonymous with the five-and-dime concept, F.W. Woolworth, still had more than 1,600 variety outlets as of April 30, but that was 51 fewer than a year ago. They anticipate another 50 to 60 closings in the current year.

Woolworth, like the other national giants, has been concentrating its expansion programs on its 100,000 square foot-plus "Woolco," one-stop shopping centers located for the most part in suburban shopping malls. Woolco stores have grown in number from 192 in 1973 to 230, about 17 per cent of total Woolworth-owned stores and that percentage is growing.

S.S. Kresge, which once had 745 "Green Front" Kresge Stores of the five-and-dime type in the mid-1930s, now has only 379 in the United States. They are in a holding pattern, a spokesman says, planning to maintain and modernize existing variety stores. But expansion energies will be spent on longer, one-stop "K-Mart" discount outlets which will soon outnumber smaller, variety outlets by about two-to-one.

About half of W.T. Grant's 1,172 outlets fall under the smaller variety heading, a spokesman estimates, but that percentage is shrinking as the company builds more and more giant "Grant City" outlets.

These moves, which changing consumer demand and inflation have forced on retailers, continue to face the national chains with enormous challenges.

Kresge appears to have adjusted well. Over-all sales were up about 19 per cent in the first half of 1974, while net income grew by about 14 per cent. Kresge's relative health, compared with Woolworth and Grant, is in part due to its being the first to sense about 12 years ago the growing consumer demand for large, onestop discount centers in suburban locations.

At the sound of the gong . . .

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A recent newspaper cartoon showed a woman shopper, cart loaded with groceries, rushing up and down the aisles of a supermarket. Over the loudspeaker came an announcement: "At the sound of the gong, all prices will go up 10 per cent."

Things aren't quite that bad, but to many shoppers the cartoon is based on an uncomfortable amount of truth. Prices seem to be going up faster than you can count. The government has estimated that by the end of this year, food prices will be 15 to 17 per cent higher than last year.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has predicted an 8 to 10 per cent increase for next year, but officials say even that may have to be revised upward because of frosts in the Midwest.

Americans spend billions of dollars in supermarkets each year. Where is the money going?

Twenty per cent of it isn't even being spent on food. The Super Market Institute, an industry research group, says only 8 per cent of the typical supermarket bill goes for food. The rest is spent on things like paper goods, magazines, records, toys and all the other "extras."

Supermarkets frequently display these profitable items where the customer is most likely to see them and consumer advisers warn shoppers to be wary of buying things they don't need.

According to the Super Market Institute, the average customer transaction at a so-called combination supermarket—a store devoting 25 per cent or more of its space to general merchandise—involves an expenditure of $8.68 on food and $1.65 on nonfood items.

The institute also came up with some interesting regional sidelights, although it provided no explanation. Customers in the Northeast and Midwest spend almost twice as much on food per transaction as those in the South. But the Southerners spend a higher percentage of the grocery bill on general merchandise.

No matter what type of item is involved, you're also paying for the package. The Agriculture Department has estimated that the value of packaging for farm-produced foods increased by over 8 per cent last year and now is more than $10 billion.

Metal cans went up 12 per cent last year, the department said; glass containers were up more than 9 per cent; paper products jumped 8 per cent; plastics increased 6 per cent; and wood containers went up 1 per cent.

Even the paper bag the groceries are packed in is costing more. The Agriculture Department reported, for example, that one national supermarket chain was paying two cents for every large grocery bag—up about 14 per cent over 1972. The bag held about $7 to $8 worth of groceries, the department said.

Woman bookkeeper escapes bandits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An eight-month pregnant bank bookkeeper, abducted during a robbery and left bound and gagged in a motel room some 160 miles from her home in Kentucky, escaped unharmed early today when she pulled her ropes off and walked out of the room, police said.

Betty Ison of Sandy Hook, Ky., who expects her baby in five weeks, was abducted from the Peoples Bank of Sandy Hook at lunchtime Thursday when an armed gunman took her and $14,000 during a holdup.

A relative of the 21-year-old woman in Columbus said Mrs. Ison told police here that two men left her in the small motel room on the city's south side about seven hours after the robbery.

The relative, Mrs. Robert Fraley, said Mrs. Ison told police the men tied her and warned her not to attempt to escape. About five hours later she walked out of the room and told her story to the motel manager who called police.

Mrs. Ison told police she was "treated very well." She declined a medical examination, police said.

An armed man walked into the rural eastern Kentucky town of 800's only bank about noon Thursday, stood in line before handing a note to a teller, revealed a small revolver and demanded money.

The man then began to scream obscenities at two female tellers, a bank executive said. Mrs. Ison, who managed the bookkeeping room behind the tellers, went out to the main room to investigate the commotion.

Two tellers said the man threatened to kill them if they set off the alarm. One cashier put her money into a white sack the gunman gave her and returned his note when he demanded it.

After getting the money, the gunman walked two steps and looked at Mrs. Ison, saying, "You come with me," said bank cashier Proctor Caudill.

Caudill said it appeared the gunman took a hostage as an afterthought. "Evidently she changed the expression on her face and he said, 'Why are you smiling? I think I'll take you with me.'" bank Vice President Jane E. Caudill said.

"When I saw her go out the front door she seemed calm," Mrs. Caudill said. The gunman fled in an old, green Oldsmobile Cutlass driven by an accomplice, Kentucky state police said. "We don't have a better employee," she said. "She's just a super gal in every way."

South Lebanon election ordered

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The South Lebanon Village Council is under court order to set a recall election for Mayor Rollie Poe and Councilman Glenn Moore after earlier refusing to do so.

Warren County Common Pleas Court Judge William W. Young ruled Thursday the council had "no reason not to order the election" after the board of elections certified the recall petitions submitted by Paul Baker.

Baker, who has filed to run for mayor against Poe, filed suit after the council voted 4-2 against holding such an election.

NOW PLAYING THRU SUNDAY WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE CHAKERES DRIVE-IN

Critical games face SCOL teams

BY LARRY WATTS

Record-Herald Sports Editor

While either Washington Court House or Greenfield will be facing their first defeat of the season, both Hillsboro and Circleville are walking on thin ice in tonight's games in the South Central Ohio League.

Both Greenfield and Washington are carrying 1-0 SCOL marks and 3-1 season records into their league clash at Gardner Park Stadium. Since Hillsboro and Circleville already own one loss in the league, another loss would virtually eliminate them from the title picture in just the second week of action. Hillsboro travels to Miami Trace, who will be opening its league slate, and the Tigers host Wilmington, which is 3-1 overall and 1-0 in the SCOL.

GREENFIELD AT WASHINGTON C.H.

One mistake could be all either team needs to decide the outcome of this game. The Tigers and Lions are both defensive-oriented teams this year.

Tailback Gary Barr represents the major threat in the Tigers' offense. Barr, who is averaging 30 carries per game, has already chalked up 45 yards rushing in four games.

Washington's offensive attack, especially the ground game, has been anything but spectacular this year. Last week, the Lions accounted for 203 total yards on offense, which has been their best offensive production of the season. However, Washington's offense has been showing gradual improvement with each game.

Quarterback Jeff Brown remains a questionable starter for coach Maurice Pfeifer and his crew. Brown, who is also the top punter in the SCOL, received a back injury in the first half of the Unioto game. He sat out the entire second half and did not report to practice until Wednesday.

Last week, Greenfield notched a 6-0 victory over Circleville on a pass interception in the fourth period. The Lions blistered Unioto, the newest addition to the SCOL, 31-13.

HILLSBORO AT MIAMI TRACE

Entering their first SCOL contest, the Panthers' defenders will be facing a highly explosive offensive attack. Three Hillsboro players have already scored over 20 points this season. Halfbacks Ken Captain and Steve Kelch have produced 26 and 24 points, respectively, while running back Terry Burns has 20 points.

Hillsboro's offense is built around the passing arm of junior quarterback Don Marsh. Marsh has connected on 29 of 64 passes for 451 yards.

On the ground, the Indians possess a very weak attack. Burns leads the rushing game with 139 yards in 39 carries.

In all three victories, Miami Trace's defense has been superb. In those contests, the opponents were held to less than 150 yards total offense.

Offensively, fullback Jeff Sagar and quarterback Tom Riley will be counted on to supply the majority of the scoring punch. In scoring 32 points, Sagar has ramblled for 418 yards in 68 carries. Riley has connected on 15 of 32 passes for 168 yards and carried the ball 53 times for 227 yards.

There is also a very good possibility that Panther coach Fred Zechman will install freshman quarterback Art Schlichter into the lineup. If so, Sagar will move to halfback and Riley will become the fullback.

WILMINGTON AT CIRCLEVILLE
Very few people could have predicted the Tigers to have their backs in the corner by this time of the season. Coupling last week's 6-0 loss to Greenfield with the invasion of Wilmington this week, it could be now or never for Circleville.

If Circleville expects to take the wind out of the Hurricane, the defense will have to stop Wilmington's deadly running dual of Jackie Watson and Bob Scott. Watson has already scored 64 points and picked up 468 yards in 61 carries for a 7.67 average per carry. Scott has 226 yards in 32 carries for a 7.06 average per carry.

Circleville's offense is headed by the running of Pat McNaughton and Biff Bumgarner. McNaughton has carried the ball 47 times for 217 yards and Bumgarner has 213 yards in 52 carries.

The game is expected to be a low scoring affair. Two of the finest defenses in the SCOL will be on display.

WESTFALL AT UNIOTO

It's homecoming for the Shermans and the Mustangs of Westfall will be providing the opposition. Both teams come into the game with identical 2-2 records.

Following last week's 31-13 loss at the hands of Washington, another blow was delivered to coach Mike Shoemaker's crew. Tight end Scott Brumfield, who caught both touchdown passes, received a broken hand during the game. Brumfield is expected to miss the next three games.

The loss of Brumfield marks the second major loss to the newest addition to the SCOL. In the previous week, running back Roger Rutherford dislocated his shoulder and is expected to miss the remainder of the season.

Robertson predicts Pirate win

By ED PHILLIPS

Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirate slugger Bob Robertson had a prediction about the National League championship playoffs between his team and the Los Angeles Dodgers. At least he had a prediction about predictions.

Jeff Elliott sets pace in Lions' 56-0 romp

In just two games, Jeff Elliott is setting a record pace on the Washington Court House freshman squad. Last night, Elliott romped for five touchdowns and gained 190 yards in seven carries to lead Washington to a 56-0 slaughter of Clinton Massie.

In just two games, Elliott has now carried the ball 23 times for 393 yards and has scored 58 points. He picked up 28 points and 203 yards in 16 carries in the 38-0 shutout of Hillsboro.

Before the first quarter was over, Elliott already had three touchdowns.

His first score came on a 70-yard run and he also added a 30-yard return of a pass interception and a 53-yard run. Gary Huysman ran the conversion following Elliott's first touchdown and quarterback Devic Hargo hit Terry Wilson with a pass for the second conversion.

In the second period, Hargo tossed a 25-yard scoring pass to Doug Stewart. With 4:09 remaining in the half, Elliott scored his fourth touchdown on a 11-yard run.

Washington's only score in the third frame came on a 10-yard run by Tony West. Huysman tallied the conversion on a run.

In the fourth stanza, the Lions struck paydirt on a 15-yard pass from Gary Fisher to Donald Justice. Randy Farmer ran the conversion. With just 40 seconds remaining in the game, Clinton Massie was forced to punt and Elliott returned the punt 50 yards for the touchdown.

Next Thursday, the Lions will be going after their third shutout when they travel to Wilmington.

NL East where only one other team finished above .500.

Those numbers didn't phase Robertson, though.

"We beat them here and we beat them out there during the year. In a five-game series it's a dog-eat-dog situation and anything can happen."

In the regular season, the Pirates were 8-4 against the Dodgers, sweeping all six games in Pittsburgh and going 2-4 in Los Angeles. Against all clubs in the Western Division, Pittsburgh was 44-28, encountering much rougher sledding in the East with a 44-46 mark.

But there are some other numbers floating around that tend to favor the Dodgers. Take 19-9 and 20-6.

Those are the won-lost records of Don Sutton and Andy Messersmith, who will be starting the first two games for Los Angeles. Toss in their earned run averages of 3.22 and 2.59 and stack them up against their opponents on the mound.

Jerry Reuss, who had more triumphs than anyone on the Pirate staff with a 16-11 record, will carry a 3.50 ERA into the playoffs Saturday. Jim Rooker take a 15-11 record and a 2.77 ERA into Sunday's game.

Further, Messersmith struck out 221 batters, second in the league, while Rooker led the Pirate staff with 139. So the numbers look like they favor Los Angeles.

That's on paper. On the field, there were some other numbers. Specifically, Sutton was 1-2 and Messersmith 1-1 against the Pirates. Reuss was 2-1 and Rooker 1-1 versus Los Angeles.

The numbers also show the different roads the clubs took in winning their division titles. Los Angeles got off to the best start in the majors and was able to coast through a late charge by the Cincinnati Reds. They won when necessary.

Pittsburgh got off to the worst start in the majors and climbed past five clubs to a September-long dogfight with St. Louis that went to the last day of the season. The Pirates, too, won when they had to.

Frank Robinson becomes Tribe boss

CLEVELAND (AP)—Frank Robinson sat and listened to the telegram being read and a contemplative look formed on his face. He moved his hands from the folded position on the table before him to touch his face.

"I know millions of Americans join me in sending warmest good wishes for every success in future seasons," the telegram read.

It was signed Gerald R. Ford.

The President of the United States took time out from his concerns to congratulate Robinson on becoming manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball club.

Leaders of nations usually only congratulate sports figures when they win World Series, Super Bowls or the like.

Robinson has not led a club to a pennant or a World Series, but Thursday he became baseball's first black manager.

Baseball is 105 years old and it wasn't until 1947 that the first black player—Jackie Robinson—donned a major league uniform.

As much as Frank Robinson, who is not related to Jackie, tried to minimize the black issue, the telegram, the presence of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the mass of newsmen marked the event.

"I want to be judged by my expertise on the field," Robinson said.

"I was born black and now that I'm a manager, I guess I have to be a black manager."

Robinson said in response to a question, "If I had one wish in the world today, that wish would be to have Jackie Robinson here to see this happen."

Robinson said that he sees no similarity between his situation and Jackie Robinson's, but in another statement he faced the overriding issue head on.

"I don't know what baseball people are thinking," he said, "but I hope—I hope—that they don't say now we have one here and then forget about hiring any more."

Robinson said he is aware of the pressures that will be put upon him, but explained they will be from outside places.

"I don't feel any pressure from within and that's the most important thing to me," Robinson said.

For the most part Robinson started his new career as a player-manager of the Indians, which will bring him an estimated $100,000 on a one-year contract, in a humorous fashion.

"My hat size has gotten bigger in the last few months," Robinson said, in response to an inquiry if his being the first black manager would go to his head.

"But that's only because I've let my hair grow," he added. "I plan to get my hair cut soon and that should help reduce my hat size."

Key college games set

By The Associated Press

Eleventh-ranked Auburn, with the nation's best total defense in college football, held Miami of Florida to a minus 85 yards rushing the last time the two teams met.

The was in 1968 when the Tigers upset Miami 31-6. But when the two powers meet tonight in front of an anticipated 40,000 fans in the Orange bowl, Auburn Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan expects a much tougher opponent in the 16th-ranked Hurricanes.

"From looking at films and talking to scouts, Miami has the best team they've probably had since the early 1960s," said Jordan.

In key games Saturday, it's No. 1 Ohio State at Washington State in Seattle; Wake Forest at No. 2 Oklahoma; No. 3 Alabama at Mississippi in Jackson; No. 4 Michigan at Stanford; No. 5 Texas A&M at Kansas; Minnesota at No. 6 Nebraska; No. 7 Notre Dame at Michigan State; East Carolina at No. 8 North Carolina State; Iowa at No. 9 Southern California and Oklahoma State at No. 10 Texas Tech.

Miami has averaged 214 yards rushing and 90 yards passing. Auburn has allowed only 126 yards in total defense and is giving up just 1.7 yards per rushing attempt.

"They're human beings, just people, like you and me," said Washington State linebacker Don Hoover of Ohio State. "They're No. 1, but we're shooting to knock them off."

Wake Forest, which hasn't won since its opener in 1973, doesn't figure to provide much trouble at all for Coach Barry Switzer's Sooners, unbeaten in 14 straight games.

Alabama, 3-0, has posted a 52-0

Jerry West retires; stays with Lakers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jerry West has retired because he doesn't feel he can play the way he wants, but West still can be winning basketball games for the Los Angeles Lakers.

"Although he won't be playing, he can help us in so many ways that he'll be winning more games for the Lakers," said Coach Bill Sharman, who envisions West working with younger players.

The Lakers had expected their superstar to perform one more season, but after 14 campaigns, the veteran called it quits Thursday. It was his own decision, but his youngsters had a part.

Oakland, Orioles ready for clash

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's are juggling second basemen again. It must be playoff time.

Dick Green will start at second in the American League playoffs which open here Saturday against the Baltimore Orioles. Manny Trillo is the new backup man because of Ted Kubiak's ankle injury.

Browns, Cowboys win games

Thursday's junior high action at Miami Trace found the Browns nipping the Bengals 20-14 and the Cowboys thumping the Rams 28-0.

Duerrell Neitz returned the Bengals' fourth quarter kickoff 78 yards to give the Browns the deciding edge. The touchdown gave the Browns a 18-14 lead and Neitz added the conversion for the final score.

Ed Forsythe put the Browns on the board with a 43-yard run in the first quarter. Neitz added a 80-yard touchdown jaunt in the second frame.

The Bengals had received two touchdowns, and a conversion from John St. Clair. St. Clair's touchdowns were from one yard away and from 15 yards. His conversion following the second score gave the Bengals their brief lead.

Brian Zurfue and Carl Riley pace the Cowboys to their win. Riley had a 12-yard touchdown run in the third period and a 18-yard score in the final frame. Zurfue produced a 55-yard touchdown burst in the third stanza and added a pair of conversions.

The Cowboys' first touchdown came in the opening frame. Quarterback Scott Grooms hit Ken Kingery with a 33-yard pass.

At some other positions, Manager Alvin Dark isn't so sure of how he'll play things.

"We have problems, like whether Reggie Jackson can play in the field," Dark said.

Right-fielder Jackson, the A's leading home run hitter and the league's Most Valuable Player in 1973, pulled a hamstring muscle Sept. 22 and didn't play in the field through the final 10 days of the regular baseball season.

"I probably could have come back last weekend, but they wanted to make sure I was ready for the playoffs," said Jackson, who took part in a special batting practice session with most of the other A's regulars Thursday.

Dark would like Ray Fosse to start as catcher for defensive purposes, but the .196 hitter may be replaced by power hitting Gene Tenace, the regular first baseman. The move would start a chain reaction, with Joe Rudi moving from left field to first.

"If we change three positions, we've got inexperience, inexperience," admits Dark.

The A's and Orioles both had workouts scheduled this afternoon at the Oakland Coliseum, where about 40,000 fans are expected Saturday to watch Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 25-12, pitch against the Orioles' Mike Cuellar, 22-10, in the opener of the best-of-five playoff.

Oakland, en route to a second straight world championship, advanced to the World Series by beating the Orioles in five games last season.

"I figure this year's series will be just like last year's, very tight and probably down to the last game," said A's third baseman Sal Bando, who drove in 103 runs this season.

The A's beat the Orioles last year despite a .200 team batting average in the playoffs. Their three victories were by scores of 6-3, 2-1 and 3-0, with Hunter pitching a shutout in the final game.

Three unbeatens remain

By HOWARD SINER
AP Sports Writer

The entire National Football League list of unbeatens includes a total stranger, a rebounding veteran and a familiar champion. Their names, respectively, are New England, St. Louis and Minnesota.

With the topsy-turvy NFL stumbling into its fourth week of regular season action, the unlikely trio puts its 3-0 records on the line Sunday. And New England, surprisingly, could have the easiest test.

Among the biggest NFL games this weekend are Baltimore at New England, St. Louis at San Francisco and Minnesota at Dallas.

Elsewhere, it's Washington at Cincinnati, Buffalo at Green Bay, Denver at Kansas City, Oakland at Cleveland, Detroit at Los Angeles, Pittsburgh at Houston, Philadelphia at San Diego, New Orleans at Chicago and Atlanta at New York in New Haven, Conn.

The nationally televised NFL game Monday night matches the visiting New York Jets against the defending champion Miami Dolphins.

High-flying New England, led by Jim Plunkett's six scoring passes, has fooled the experts by upsetting Miami, New York and Los Angeles. The running of little Mack Herron and Sam "Bam" Cunningham has been an important factor, too. So has the newly stingy Patriot defense.

Winless Baltimore, shocked by the post-game firing last week of Coach Howard Schnellenberger, has General Manager Joe Thomas taking over the coaching duties. The Colts are still rebuilding with quarterbacks Marty Domres and Bert Jones taking their lumps.

But the rebuilding may be nearly finished for St. Louis, off to its best start in eight years. The Cards — lacking a single representative among the NFL's top ten rushers, passers and receivers — has limited the opposition in three games to a total of just 20 points.

San Francisco, 2-1, coming off a 21-3 loss to tough Cincinnati, might be in the mood to prevent St. Louis from getting by with its usual big plays on offense and defense. Quarterback Joe Reed of the 49ers will try to throw against the Cardinal defenders.

In a rematch of the 1973 NFC championship game, Minnesota's veteran team invades Texas Stadium to face Dallas, 1-2, unexpectedly beaten by Philadelphia and the New York Giants in its past two games.

The Vikings have scored just one touchdown in each of their past two victories despite the efforts of scrambling quarterback Fran Tarkenton and running back Chuck Foreman, who has 224 yards so far.

Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach, leading the NFL with 725 yards gained passing, tossed three interceptions against the Giants and was sacked six times. But the Dallas defense is still pretty tough.

In an evenly matched game, Washington, 2-1, faces Cincinnati, 2-1. The Redskins rely on quarterback Bill Kilmer's passing — 223 yards and two TDs — and Larry Brown's running. The Bengals use QB Ken Anderson, receiver Issac Curtis and runner Boobie Clark.

Against Denver, 0-2-1, Kansas City, 2-1, expects to start sub QB Mike Livingston in place of injured Len Dawson. Ed Podolak remains the all-purpose Chiefs back. Denver, hurt by a tough early schedule, has Charley Johnson throwing to Riley Odoms and Haven Moses.

Oakland, 2-1, which just shut out Pittsburgh, will turn its mean defenders loose against Cleveland, 1-2. Raider passer Ken Stabler gets help from runners Marv Hubbard and Clarence Davis. The Browns have so-so quarterback Mike Phipps and young runner Greg Pruitt.

Shocked 20-14 by New England, Los Angeles, 2-1, turns its anger on winless Detroit. The talented Rams had been winning due to the passing of John Hadl and their strong running. The Lions' ground attack is led by Altie Taylor and Steve Owens.

Pittsburgh, 1-1-1, jolted 17-0 by Oakland the last time out, will try to recover. Hot-shot Steeler passer Joe Gilliam gets the starting nod again. Hapless Houston, 1-2, which lost two crucial fumbles and two key passes last week against Kansas City, wants to try again.

The defense for Philadelphia, 2-1, has allowed just 27 points this season. It averaged 28 points a game in 1973. San Diego, 1-2, has a new discovery in rookie Don Woods. He rushed for a NFL season high of 157 yards last week in a 28-21 loss to Miami, scoring two TDs.

New Orleans, 1-2, stopped Atlanta 14-

13 last week for its first victory. Saints QB Archie Manning fired a scoring pass and runner Jesse Phillips ran for an eight-yard touchdown. Chicago, 1-2, has a tough defense and a new-found passer, quarterback Gary Huff.

The Giants, 1-2, hope they are finally getting together behind rookie coach Bill Arnsparger, a defensive expert. Aging Norm Snead still runs the team. Winless Atlanta has Pat Sullivan passing, Gerald Tinker catching and Nick Mike-Mayer kicking field goals.

The Jets, 1-2, stymied by rain last week in a 16-12 loss to Buffalo, hope to unleash passer Joe Namath against Miami, 2-1. New York's John Riggins, who has 216 yards, is an improved rusher. But Miami has Griesse, Csonka, & Co. to test the questionable Jet defense.

Ohio State, Miami risk perfect grid records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State and Miami, two of the state's strongest college football teams, risk glory and unbeaten records on the road Saturday.

The Buckeyes put their national poll lead on the line against Washington State, 1-2, at Seattle.

Ohio State has won all three of its starts by wide margins and is listed a 27-point favorite over the Cougars.

Miami, meanwhile, has the nation's longest unbeaten streak of 15 games riding at Kentucky in a night game. The Redskins are off to a 2-0-1 start.

Ohio State, Heidelberg and Youngstown are the only unbeaten, untied schools remaining this season among the state's 34 football-playing colleges.

Heidelberg, showing surprising strength, launches its Ohio Conference campaign with a Red Division game at Muskingum. The Student Princes are 3-0-0.

Youngstown, 2-0-0, continues its ambitious independent schedule, entertaining Northern Michigan.

In the Mid-American Conference, unexpected coleaders Bowling Green and Toledo clash at Toledo at night. Both are 1-0. Expected title choice Kent State, 0-1, entertains Western Michigan.

Major nonconference tests have Northern Illinois at Ohio University in the afternoon and Southern Illinois at Dayton and Tampa at Akron, both at night.

Unheralded Findlay can remain in the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference lead by trimming Bluffton at Findlay at night. The Oilers are 3-0-0 in the league. Bluffton is tied for third place at 1-0-1 in the H-BC.

In other H-BC tests, Defiance goes to Manchester and Wilmington is home for Taylor, the latter at night.

In additional league games Denison visits Capital in the Ohio Conference Blue Division and, in the President's Conference, Case Western Reserve at Washington and Jefferson and John Carroll at Carnegie-Mellon.

Elsewhere in the afternoon, Marietta is at Ohio Northern, Hiram at Wooster, Kenyon at Mount Union, West Liberty at Wittenberg, Oberlin at Hamilton.

Baldwin-Wallace goes to Ashland, Ohio Wesleyan to Otterbein and Central State travels to Lane, Tenn., for night games.

Fastidious Jim wins Latonia feature race

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Fastidious Jim, carrying 113 pounds, won the $3,000 featured eighth race at Latonia by five lengths Thursday night.

The horse ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:07 1-5 and paid $3.40, $2.80 and $2.40. Untwine placed, paying $3.80 and $3.60 and Intentionless was third for $5.40.

D Plus and Robert Henry, 2-2, paid $110.20 in the daily double.

Land conquered with ski poles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lost Sierra is an isolated corner of northeastern California that the '49ers penetrated for gold. In the beginning, most of them abandoned their diggings with the first heavy snowfall and retreated to the protection of the lowlands and valleys.

The Scandinavians jumping ship in San Francisco to join the gold rush taught them to make skis, and miners conquered a region that was snowbound for seven months of the year, with drifts as high as 40 feet.

A record 400,870 immigrants came to Canada in 1913.

Italian collapse causes concern

ROME (AP) —The Fiat auto company today put 65,000 workers on a 24-hour work week, underlining the grave economic crisis that has toppled Italy's 36th postwar government and sharpened a Communist bid for power.

Fiat, whose sales have plunged as a result of the world energy crisis, said the purpose of the reduced work week beginning Monday would be to slow production.

The company promised the short week would not last beyond Jan. 31, and that a special state fund would help out employees no longer working a full 40-hour week.

The long-simmering question of a role for the Communists in the government was a major factor in the collapse Thursday of the center-left coalition headed by Premier Mariano Rumor.

The Italian Communist party is the largest in the West, the second largest party in Italy. It gets one out of every four votes in national elections and controls the powerful General Confederation of Labor. It also controls the city government in Bologna and several other municipalities.

Rumor's Christian Democrats, Italy's dominant party since World

War II, has steadfastly rejected the Communists' demands for inclusion in the government. But the Socialists, the second largest party in the ruling coalition, have increasingly supported the Communist demand, and their battles with the Christian Democrats crippled the government.

The new crisis raised fears in Western capitals that admission of the Communists to the government might be the only alternative to government paralysis and economic collapse. The United States and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization feared that once in the government, the Communists would try to pull Italy out of NATO.

Italy's importance to the alliance increased sharply when Greece, its eastern neighbor, pulled its forces out of NATO because of the Cyprus crisis last summer.

For the past 20 years, Italians generally have remained indifferent as their government changed at a rate of more than once a year. But this is the third cabinet collapse this year, and it comes as inflation rages at more than 20 per cent and the foreign trade deficit regularly tops $1 billion a month.

Stanton-Jasper Road was burglarized sometime between 8 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported. A color television set and miscellaneous items such as jewelry and a clock were stolen. An investigation is in progress.

Jeffersonville firemen responded to a house fire on Carr Road, near the Ohio 41-N intersection, at 7:41 a.m. Friday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. The blaze was mostly confined to the center of the old, abandoned house and firemen subdued it with water.

The property is farmed by Marvin Stockwell, Jeffersonville, but the house had been uninhabited for a number of years.

Michael Smith, 16, of Mount Sterling, was bitten severely on the left ear when he tried to free his dog which had its paw stuck in a fence. The incident occurred at the Smith residence at 5 p.m. Thursday. The boy was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he received stitches in the ear and was then released, sheriff's deputies reported.

Two cars belonging to Walter Coil, which were parked in his garage at 910 Millwood Ave., were vandalized sometime between 10 p.m. Thursday and 6:30 p.m. Friday, Washington C.H. police reported. The antennas were broken off the autos and paint thinner thrown on them, police said.

Food World, 1122 Columbus Ave., received a bad check on Sept. 9 for $47.21, police reported.

A 10-speed bicycle valued at $100 and belonging to Terry Stritenberger, 1664 Dennis St., was stolen from the front of Hidy Foods, Columbus Ave., while the owner was inside the store at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Mark Toppins, 6, of 720 Clinton Ave., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Police Sgt. Robert Massie, when he started choking on food while at home eating dinner at 5:41 p.m. Thursday. He was treated and released.

Wendell Barr, 56, of 302 Clearview Road, was bitten by a dog while walking on the sidewalk in front of 903 Washington Ave., at 5:15 p.m. Thursday, police reported.

Saxbe asks price-fix crackdown

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe asked Congress today for legislation allowing antitrust violators to be jailed for as long as five years, instead of the present one-year maximum.

He urged judges to send tax evaders and antitrust violators to jail rather than impose small fines and probation. "Price fixers should go to prison," he declared. "The man who evades taxes should go to prison. They are no better than the car thief or the burglar or the robber ... and it is about time that all of the federal judges begin realizing that."

The attorney general's remarks were in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Associated Industries of New York.

Although condemning special treatment for tax evaders and other white collar criminals, Saxbe acknowledged that the Justice Department accorded just such treatment to Spiro T. Agnew when Elliot L. Richardson was attorney general.

The former vice president resigned his office and pleaded no contest to a single count of tax evasion. He was sentenced to three years of unsupervised probation and fined $10,000.

In exchange, the department brought no other charges against him in connection with his alleged involvement in a long-running Maryland political kick-back scheme.

"I cannot second-guess my predecessor's decision," Saxbe said. "The country probably agreed he did the right thing, for it would have been an agonizing ordeal if a vice president under indictment ... would have succeeded to the presidency."

But he continued, "I am tired of exceptions in the process of justice... if the white collar criminal is given favored treatment, the system of justice begins to break down."

The cost of social welfare continues to be the largest item in the Canadian federal government budget.

Officers here probe four auto accidents

Three accidents were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and Washington C.H. Police investigated one accident, none of which involved any injury or citations.

A car driven by Barbara L. Kingery, 17, Alien Road, struck a parked car owned by Julia Moore, Sidney, as she attempted to park her car on Court Street, near the intersection of North Street, at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, police reported.

Mailboxes owned by Norman E. Greeno, Rt. 5, and Doris B. Gordon, Rt. 5, were struck by a hit-skip driver on Madison Road, 130 feet from the CCC Highway-E intersection, in Madison Mills, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

A car driven by David L. Hellyer, 17, of Bloomington, was moderately damaged when the driver failed to negotiate a left curve on Lewis Road, one and three-tenths miles west of the Ohio 38 intersection, at 6:15 p.m.

Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported. Hellyer drove off the right side of the road, back onto the road and off the right side again and then struck an open ditch. The car slid around end for end and finally stopped. Hellyer was not injured.

An accident involving cars driven by William E. Rankin, 60, Sabina, and Gilbert H. Biddle, 77, Bloomington, occurred on Main Street in Bloomington, 100 feet south of the Cross Street intersection, at 11:05 a.m. Thursday, sheriff's deputies reported. The Rankin car pulled into a parking place, while the Biddle auto was un-parking and they collided.

Fire subdued

A car owned by Maynard Carr ignited due to a possible short in the wiring at 11:27 a.m. Thursday in the 700 block of Dayton Ave. Washington C.H. firemen responded and subdued the flames with water. Damage was estimated at $300.
